HOW TO UPDATE YOUR CATALOGUE OF SERVICES

In order to use Extension Services' Catalogue of Services, it is important that you update your own Catalogue annually. When you make the following changes to last year's Catalogue, your binder will accurately reflect the services that are available to your community.

Most of the preliminary information that appears in your Catalogue is reprinted annually. Please remove the information that appeared in last year's Catalogue of Services and insert this year's pages.

The entire section "Artists with their Work" has been reprinted this year to include an updated list of participating artists as well as a new Agreement form.

In the Contact section there are two separate sets of exhibitions listed: Contact 1980-1981 and Contact 1981-1982. The Contact 1980-1981 exhibitions will complete their circuit by March 1981, except for three exhibitions which are extended to June 1981. They are: Paul Fournier: Form and Meaning in Nature—The Mushroom; Stephen Livick: Photographic Explorations; and See All the People: Poetry and Prints. Contact 1981-1982 lists the new series of Contact exhibitions which will circulate from April 1981 to March 1982.

Please note that the new Resource Information pages replace the entire Resource section of your present Catalogue. Please remove the old pages and insert the new ones in this section.

Please insert the listings for new exhibitions in your Catalogue under the appropriate media section. A list follows of the exhibitions that have now completed their circuit, as well as exhibitions that will complete their circuit in July 1981. Those exhibitions which have already completed their circuit should be removed from your Catalogue now and those that complete their circuit in July 1981 should be removed at that time. You may wish to keep a record of these exhibitions by inserting the listings into the Past Exhibitions section.

BOOKING FORMS

In the Introduction to last year's Catalogue of Services I wrote what is already appearing to be a prophetic paragraph: "As we enter a new decade, the nineteen eighties, we have the promise of challenge and opportunities for new directions. We will be strengthened by our past experience and accumulated knowledge. However, in order to best meet the challenge of the 1980s we will depend upon continued cooperation and communication with the centres we serve."

The challenge is no longer a promise; it is a reality. As current and future budgetary constraints threaten to limit opportunities for new directions, we must more than ever rely upon the foundation of our experience and knowledge. We will also require greater flexibility and imagination in the immediate future to provide the best service we can to our clients. The dialogue that has taken place with many centres over the past year has been interesting in its diversity. It has made apparent the challenge of responding to the many voices reflecting varying community needs, priorities, interests and perceptions. This dialogue is essential to the evaluation of our programs and will continue to be a vital factor in determining our role and the fulfillment of our mandate.

In spite of budgetary constraints which have necessitated increased fees, we have tried to hold the line on the programs offered by Extension Services which include the circulating exhibiting program, Artists with their Work, Contact, Advisory Service and Speakers Service.

The 1981-1982 circulating exhibition program will include the Canada Packers Collection: Selected Oil Paintings and Works on Paper, made possible through the generous sponsorship of Canada Packers, Inc. This outstanding exhibition offers a wide variety of works by the Group of Seven, David Milne, Emily Carr and many other major Canadian artists of the period from the 1910s to the early 1950s. Their subject matter and approaches were very different from a new style which emerged in the late 1950s and 1960s to reflect the popular images and commercial attitudes of the urban environment. The exhibition Pop Art exemplifies the characteristics and formal ideas of this style through the prints and three-dimensional multiples of artists such as Andy Warhol, Claes Oldenburg, James Rosenquist and Richard Hamilton.

The international scope of Extension Services exhibitions is revealed further by the Max Beckmann: Gesichter Portfolio on loan from the permanent collection of the Art Gallery of Ontario. These superb drypoint prints made by the German Expressionist during the war-torn years of 1914-18 reveal Beckmann's acute observation of human suffering. In pointed contrast to the Beckmann exhibition, An Album of Eighteenth Century Venetian Caricatures offers a lighthearted variety of humorous sketches of the great singers of early operatic history.

The geographical diversity of our exhibitions is illustrated on the one hand by Cape Dorset Engravings in which such well-known artists as Pitseolak, Kenojuak, Jamasie and Parr illustrate the technical potential of engravings and, on the other hand, by the Photographs by Martin Chambi and Edward Ranney. This exhibition which was organized by the Museum of Modern Art, New York, provides an astonishingly complete view into Peruvian life and history.

The work of contemporary Canadian artists is also represented in the current juried exhibition Open Studio: Ten Years, which provides an important overview of Canadian printmaking, as well as by the ongoing Artists with their Work program which provides communities outside Toronto with exhibitions and artist-led workshops.

During the past year, the Contact program has continued to meet the demand for small sized exhibitions of quality to centres with limited facilities for larger exhibitions. Contact 1981–1982 includes the contemporary work of Rosalind Goss, K.M. Graham, George Hawken, Karen Kulyk, Reinhard Reitzenstein and Susan Schelle as well as the popular historical facsimile reproductions of Eisenstein's "Ivan the Terrible", Michelangelo's figure studies and the medieval manuscript Les Très Riches Heures de Jean, Duc de Berry.

Other examples of our on-going services include Speakers Service which offers lectures related to specific exhibitions or of a more general art historical nature, and the Advisory Service. The latter offers information on museum/gallery standards, technical advice, sources of materials and training of technical staff.

The viability and future of Extension Services in the Province of Ontario has been brought into question as a result of stringent budget controls. Most believe Extension Services is an integral part of the role of the Art Gallery of Ontario in the Province. Such a belief must now be supported by those who have benefited in the past from this resource if they are to continue to benefit in the future.

Although the program inevitably will be trimmed, it is important that its core services continue. Although quantity may suffer, the quality of Extension Services must remain.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The program and exhibitions of Extension Services are only possible with the assistance and support of many different organizations, institutions and people. We are grateful to the Ministry of Culture and Recreation of Ontario and the Museums Assistance Program of the National Museums of Canada for their financial assistance as well as their on-going cooperation on an informal basis.

The generosity of many public and private galleries, collectors and artists in loaning their works is also greatly appreciated. A program of the nature and scope of Extension Services would not be possible without the assistance and direct involvement of departments throughout the Art Gallery of Ontario, nor without the commitment and dedication of the staff of Extension Services.

PROJECTBOOKS

In 1980, the General Projectbook was produced to provide information and suggestions for program development in education, docent training and promotion within the context of an art gallery. Each section includes basic methodology, commonly used approaches and case studies. Also accompanying the General Projectbook is a "Sources and Resources" appendix, intended as a research tool to facilitate the development of additional programming and the use of interdisciplinary media. This material has been prepared to supply art gallery educators with information which may not be readily available within their own communities.

Also available is the Supplement prepared to accompany the exhibition Ketubah: The Jewish Marriage Contract and four pilot Projectbooks: The Queen's Silver Jubilee Art Collection; A Canadian Survey: Selected Works from the Collection of Imperial Oil Limited; The Work of Art: Six Artists; and One Hundred Years of the Poster in Canada. Although these materials were prepared to accompany specific exhibitions, they include information and touring approaches which may be applicable to other exhibitions.

To obtain the Projectbooks on loan contact the Assistant to the Head, Extension Services.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Many new centres, as well as those we have worked with in the past, are now participating in our programs. To enable us to serve you better, we ask that careful attention be given to the following information:

The Catalogue listing includes the date for first booking of all new exhibitions. Pre-booking letters about these exhibitions are sent to all centres with sufficient space and appropriate facilities before the exhibition is confirmed as part of the Extension Services program. This confirmation of interest is essential due to the scope and financial commitment required. By the time of publication many of the exhibitions are booked. However, others are not and cancellations do occur. If you have a specific interest, information may be obtained by contacting the Scheduling Officer, (416) 977-0414.

The fee for most exhibitions includes a number of catalogues. Additional copies are available upon request from the Scheduling Officer at a cost to the centre.

Many regional centres offer excellent extension programs directed towards the smaller centres in their areas. Many of these extension departments publish catalogues of the exhibitions they offer for circulation. For other program possibilities, you may refer to the Program Sources list in the "Resource Information" section of the Catalogue of Services, or contact the Art Gallery of Ontario, Extension Services, for further information.

The Catalogue of Services offers a broad range of exhibitions to an equally wide range of centres. Information on the requirements for each exhibition is included with the description to facilitate the centre's choice and to increase the centre's awareness of the basic care and handling of works of art. For further information on these subjects, please refer to the reading list in the "Care and Handling of Exhibits" section which follows.

The requirements for receiving each exhibition are categorized as follows: security, lighting, humidity and temperature controls.

REQUIREMENTS FOR BOOKING EXHIBITIONS

Security:

Security requirements are directly related to the value and scale of the exhibition. To counter theft and vandalism suitable mechanical devices for prevention, electronic devices for detection, central station monitoring, and personal staff supervision are advisable. Small works should be directly screwed to the wall. It is also understood that suitable safe practices for fire prevention including detection devices, central station monitoring, and non-damaging extinguishing methods will be employed.

Various requirements of security are as follows:

1. Twenty-four hour full gallery security which includes a suitable electronic system and personal staff supervision during open hours. Local police should be advised that a valuable exhibition is on the premises.
2. Exhibitions in view of an attendant at all times: Secure locks on all doors and windows.
3. Periodic patrols by a responsible staff member to verify the status and condition of the exhibition. Secure locks on all doors and windows.

Lighting:

Various types of light are as follows:

1. Daylight is the most hazardous due to the damaging effect of ultraviolet light. Direct sunlight is hazardous for the above reason and for the dangers of heat in relation to works of art in all media. Daylight should be eliminated from the exhibition area.
2. Fluorescent light is hazardous because of the presence of ultraviolet light. Fluorescent tubes should be filtered with ultraviolet filters.
3. Incandescent light is the safest, although there may be danger of heat if fixtures are placed too close to works of art.

Note: Works of art in all media are subject to damage by incorrect lighting.

Relative Humidity Control:

Ideal condition for works of art is a maximum fluctuation of $\pm 10\%$ from the norm of 50% within a twenty-four hour period. The greatest damage is caused by sudden and frequent changes in relative humidity, which cause expansion or contraction of all materials. Over a period of time, such conditions have extremely damaging effects on the work of art and are among the major difficulties in circulating exhibitions.

Temperature Control:

Major fluctuations in temperature are also very harmful to works of art and should be carefully monitored together with the relative humidity of the gallery. The ideal condition for major works is 68°–72°F (20°–22°C).

Further information and sources are available from Extension Services.

BOOKING EXHIBITIONS

When selecting an exhibition, please read the description carefully, as the nature of the exhibition will determine your security and space requirements. When you have made your selection, complete the Booking Form at the back of this Catalogue. Exhibitions will be booked in order of application. The most direct shipping route will constitute the regional circuit. Booking should be requested at least two months in advance. Similarly, cancellations must be received two months in advance, otherwise the full fee will be charged. Due to the increasing number of requests for bookings, each centre is allowed a maximum of five exhibitions a year.

Conditions of Rental

A work of art should be treated with care. Exhibiting centres are directly responsible for protecting and handling material entrusted to them for exhibitions and must carefully follow all directions for packing, unpacking and handling. A Confirmation of Agreement form is sent to each exhibiting centre and must be signed and returned before the exhibition can be dispatched. This is a commitment to take the exhibition for a given period and to ship it to the next centre on a specified date. It is also an agreement to assume responsibility for the care of the exhibition, to observe the packing and unpacking instructions, to complete a Condition Report and Check List on arrival of the exhibition, and a Condition Report, Check List and a Publicity and Attendance Report on its departure.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Slides or photographs may not be taken of the works of art in the circulating exhibitions without written permission from the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services, as the works are protected by copyright laws. All reproductions must be of the entire work of art, without cropping or any alteration by over-printing, superimposed imagery, coloured stock or inks. Specific permission must be obtained for a "detail" view, and in reproduction the detail must be so identified in the title caption.

Exhibiting Period

Due to the number of requests, our exhibitions are offered for a three to four week period. The dates on the Confirmation of Agreement are the suggested opening and closing dates for your centre. We allow two days prior to, and one day following, these dates for installation and dismantling. If the exhibition is held over beyond this specified date, an additional rental fee will be charged. If the exhibition does not reach you two days before the opening date, you are requested to telephone the Scheduling Officer, Art Gallery of Ontario, (416) 977-0414.

Fees

The rental fee stated in the Catalogue includes all costs of organization and shipping as well as insurance in cases where loss or damage arise without fault or inattention on the part of the borrowers. A specified number of catalogues is also included in the exhibition fee. These may be distributed by the centre free of charge or sold by the centre at the equivalent selling price asked by the Art Gallery of Ontario Gallery Shop. Further information is contained in the information kit sent two months prior to the exhibition date.

Space Requirement

Please note that the space requirement given in running feet in the Catalogue is simply twice the total horizontal measurement of all the works, frame to frame, and represents the approximate wall space required for the exhibition. Space required for three-dimensional work is given in square feet.

Insurance and Protection

The Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services limits the privilege of borrowing to those institutions which maintain a good record in handling exhibitions.

All the exhibitions are insured during transit and display. This does not absolve the exhibitors from responsibility while the exhibition is in their care. If Extension Services has reason to believe that the exhibitor is guilty of negligence in not providing adequate protection against fire, theft and damage, or of negligence in packing, disregarding instructions or not reporting damage immediately, the exhibitor may be held responsible for claims resulting from damage or loss. Therefore it is essential that the exhibitor carry insurance to cover legal liability.

All damage should be reported immediately to the Scheduling Officer, Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services, (416) 977-0414.

Publicity

Acknowledgements to the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services, and to persons and institutions lending the exhibitions should be made in all public announcements, invitations, posters, press releases, radio and television.

A small kit containing a press release and selected photographs will be sent two months in advance of the opening of exhibitions for the use of the centre.

Sale of Works

Many of the works included in the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services circulating exhibitions are for sale. Inquiries regarding purchase should be addressed to Extension Services which will, in turn, direct them to the artist/lender.

The Art Gallery of Ontario receives no commission on sales.

Works purchased from an exhibition will be forwarded to purchasers at the end of the circulation period.

Catalogues and Audio-Visual Material

Where catalogues, catalogue-folders, posters, films, slides or videotapes are included with an exhibition, their costs are absorbed by the Art Gallery of Ontario.

Admission Charge

We recognize that it is the privilege of the exhibiting centre to establish its own admission policy. However, it should be understood that, due to the nature of the subsidy of the exhibitions offered by the Art Gallery of Ontario, the admission charge should not be unreasonable, and should be commensurate with the exhibition's quality and the costs of the exhibition to the exhibiting centre.

Shipping

All shipments of exhibitions are "door-to-door," and when heavy crates are expected, arrangements for handling should be made by the exhibiting centre. The weight given is the approximate weight of each crate. If the crates are heavy and you do not have anyone available to assist the driver, notify your shipping agent that it is a two-man pick-up in order to avoid unnecessary delays. When telephoning your shipping agent, be certain to specify that the crates are blue and contain works of art from the Art Gallery of Ontario. This will ensure careful handling.

In most cases, shipping arrangements are made by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services. However, you are requested to confirm the forwarding date with your local CN/CP Express agent three days prior to pick-up. All centres are required to obtain an Express Prepaid Shipping Contract book from their local CN/CP Express agent. Please ship the exhibition prepaid, indicating the Art Gallery of Ontario as the Shipper, to the next receiving centre, according to the Shipping Advice/Departure in the kit. Please do not insure in transit.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Requests for financial assistance in the visual arts from community groups and art organizations should be directed to the Visual Arts Officer, Ontario Arts Council, 151 Bloor Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5S 1T6.

SPECIAL LOANS FROM THE COLLECTION OF THE ART GALLERY OF ONTARIO

A number of works are available for extended loan to art galleries in the Province of Ontario. Please direct inquiries to the Head, Extension Services.

CARE AND HANDLING OF EXHIBITS

The success of Extension Services' continuing exhibition program has been built on the goodwill of the exhibiting centres. As the exhibitions are in great demand, after leaving the Art Gallery of Ontario, they may remain in circulation for the entire season. Therefore, reporting of damage and prompt shipment of the exhibition to the next centre are your contribution to the continued success of the program. Careful packing and unpacking are essential, and we would appreciate your attention to the following directions.

Please report any damage or missing items immediately to the Scheduling Officer. Do not ship a damaged work of art to the next exhibitor nor attempt any repairs without first notifying the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services, (416) 977-0414.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR BASIC CARE AND HANDLING

Climate Control

Crates containing works of art should always be packed, unpacked and stored in conditions similar to those of the exhibition area. Before unpacking, leave crates closed in the new environment for about 24 hours to allow for a slow change in temperature and relative humidity. Guard against temperature extremes.

Unpacking

Please wear white gloves provided and handle each work of art with two hands. Carry one work of art at a time. Check each item against the crate list and note any damage on the Condition Report/Arrival.

Storage

Works of art should be placed on pads to prevent damage and to protect frames. Store works of art back to back and face to face using corrugated boards as separators. Other frames or storage materials should not contact the surface of a work of art.

Installation

Works of art should be installed on two hooks. Do not use sticky tape hangers as they are not safe. Avoid hanging works of art in narrow corridors or in dangerous traffic areas. Incandescent lighting is preferred although ultraviolet-filtered fluorescents may be acceptable. Daylight should be eliminated.

Cleaning

Do not attempt to clean the surface of a work of art. To clean works framed with acrylic sheet apply anti-static cleaner to a clean soft cloth. Do not spray liquid cleaners directly onto acrylic.

Repacking

Check each item against the crate list to ensure that none is missing. Note any damage on the Condition Report/Departure and send copies immediately by mail to the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services and to the next exhibiting centre. Numbers on the back of the work should correspond to the numbers inside the crates. Generally works should be packed face to face and back to back in crates. Follow instructions in tray-type crates or for three-dimensional objects. Remove the old address label and make certain the new address label is attached to the crate label.

For further information or advice about care and handling contact Technical Services, Extension Services, Art Gallery of Ontario.

CARE AND HANDLING OF EXHIBITS

Sculpture

Sculpture and 3-dimensional works of art require special consideration in handling. Support a sculpture from underneath, where possible, or by an area which is structurally sound. Very often the most obvious carrying points are the weakest.

Crates are designed to give maximum support to the sculpture and must be repacked accordingly. If packing materials are damaged or missing, contact Extension Services.

Plexiglass

Plexiglass boxes are easily cracked or damaged by incorrect or careless handling. Two persons are required for carrying and installation. As with works of art, do not attempt to move cases until your path is clear and you have established a location for placement. Avoid sliding any type of display unit on the floor. Carrying will eliminate the danger of unnecessary chips, scratches, or cracks.

ADVISORY SERVICE

For several years the Art Gallery of Ontario has offered an informal advisory service to centres within the Province. As a result of the demand for this service, it has now become established as a program of Extension Services. Although most requests relate to technical concerns, advice and consultation are also available in the areas of administration, funding sources, budgeting, programing and board/staff relationships.

The Advisory Service is carried out on an individual basis. Inquiries regarding technical matters should be made in writing and should include a description of the project indicating the type of information required. Some questions may be answered by telephone or correspondence or, if necessary, the appropriate staff member may travel to your community to visit the space under study. Topics on which advice or information is given include:

1. Museum/gallery standards in the areas of lighting, climate control, care and handling, security, fire protection.
2. Methods and techniques of crate design and construction, mat cutting and hinging, framing, display assembly, installation and lighting of works of art.
3. Design of exhibition galleries and support spaces including technical criteria.
4. Sources of materials and services.

The Advisory Service may also assist in the training of your technical staff, either at your centre or at the Art Gallery of Ontario. In addition, when a centre first books one of our exhibitions, an Installation Officer will visit your community to assist in the installation and advise on proper care and handling techniques.

As a result of the increased demand for the Advisory Service coupled with current budgetary constraints, it has regrettably become necessary to charge a nominal fee for service depending upon the nature of the request, the amount of time and research required, and whether a written report is necessary. Please contact the Head, Extension Services, or the Head, Technical Services, for further information.

Please Note: Technical Services has a supply of ultraviolet filters for fluorescent lights available on loan to galleries who wish to book an exhibition requiring filters but who are currently unable to purchase them.

SPEAKERS SERVICE

Through the Speakers Service, communities may book a lecture or lecture series from the Art Gallery of Ontario. Speakers Service members will research and present lectures on a wide variety of topics. Lectures can be related to specific requests concerning a particular subject matter or exhibition, or they can be of a more general nature covering such topics as:

Canadian Art

- A Survey of Art in Canada up to the Group of Seven
- A Survey of Canadian Art from 1920 to the Present
- Canadian Native Art
- Architecture in Canada
- Contemporary Canadian Sculpture
- Contemporary Canadian Painting
- Realism in Canadian Contemporary Art

Art in the Middle Ages

What is Modern Art?

Social Commentary in the Visual Arts

New York Painters of the 50's and 60's

The Involvement of Women in Art

Methods and Media of the Artist

Speakers Service was initiated in 1978 with funding from Outreach Ontario, and operated as a cost-free program to communities in Ontario. Since Outreach Ontario is no longer able to continue funding this service as an on-going program, the Art Gallery of Ontario supports Speakers Service on an equal cost-sharing basis with centres booking the service. A flat fee of $125.00 per lecture is charged to the centre by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services. The Art Gallery will continue to assume all remaining costs for each program.

Requests for speakers should be directed to the Assistant to the Head, Extension Services, Art Gallery of Ontario, 317 Dundas Street West, Toronto, Ontario M5T 1G4, (416) 977-0414.

"Artists with their Work" is a visiting artists program. It is designed to provide communities in Ontario with access to exhibitions of current work by a selection of contemporary artists practising in a variety of disciplines. The program includes artists who approach their work in a more traditional manner, as well as those whose work is of an experimental or innovative nature. In conjunction with an exhibition which may remain on view for three to four weeks, the artist is available to visit the community. The artist can be present for the opening of the exhibition, lecture on his/her work, conduct workshops or participate in related community activities from one to three days. The artist's visit to the community may concentrate on: techniques and approaches to painting, drawing and sculpture; printing processes such as lithography, etching and engraving; or conceptualization and development of film, photography, video and/or performance projects.

Artists working in film, video, projects and performance may be requested for an evening session, day-long conference or weekend workshop, without the exhibition component. The artist will bring his/her film or videotape and may develop a project or performance designed specifically for the community in consultation with the host centre.

The extent and nature of the exhibition, as well as the artist's involvement, can be as limited or as extensive as the community's own interests and requirements. In most cases such details are coordinated directly between the community and the artist, with the program coordinator acting in an advisory capacity.

"Artists with their Work" may be used by art galleries, art clubs, libraries and universities or colleges which have an exhibition space and make the entire program accessible to the general public. The program is also directed towards involving communities which do not usually have access to this type of exhibition/workshop situation and, for this reason, the program is not available in the Metropolitan Toronto area.

After selecting the artist and planning the program of your choice, please complete the Agreement Form included in this catalogue and mail it to the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

A Catalogue with detailed information on each artist is available on request.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The Exhibiting Centre

1. Accommodation and living expenses for the artist(s) while in the community up to a maximum of three days.
2. If more than one artist is requested or if the honorarium exceeds the maximum offered by the program, the difference must be met by the exhibiting centre.
3. "All Risks" insurance on the artist's works "nail to nail" with an agreed value for each work. It is essential that the centre carry insurance to cover legal liability.
4. Costs of labour for loading and unloading the truck and for installing and dismantling the exhibition if required.
5. Responsibility for items forming the exhibition from the time the exhibition is received by the exhibiting centre until it relinquishes control.
6. Suitable film or video screening facilities and a trained projectionist if required.
7. The development of maximum interest and involvement within the community and a commitment to undertake comprehensive publicity and pay for any costs involved (including catalogue, invitations, advertisements).
8. Submission of a follow-up report on each program, including copies of publicity, slides, photographs, newspaper articles, attendance estimates, etc.

Note: Charging registration fees for workshops is discouraged but, if necessary, such fees should only be used to cover additional expenses. To meet the demand for the "Artists with their Work" program, the number of programs in any one community is limited to three times per year. Requests should be made at least two to three months in advance.

Art Gallery of Ontario

1. Artist's honorariums for the exhibition and workshops. The workshop honorariums will be commensurate with the time spent at the exhibiting centre.
2. Arrangements and payment of transportation of the artist's works to and from the exhibiting centre (within Ontario).
3. Arrangements and payment of transportation of the artist to and from the exhibiting centre (maximum of two round trips).
4. Film and video rentals if required.
5. Workshop supplies (up to $100.00) upon consultation with the co-ordinator prior to the program.

Artist

1. To be present in the community on the dates specified and to make all final arrangements with the exhibiting centre.
2. To lend works as requested for a period of up to four weeks and to agree upon exhibition dates with the exhibiting centre.
3. To communicate specific details regarding the program to the Art Gallery of Ontario, Extension Services.
4. To provide exhibiting centre with a list of works and their insurance values prior to the exhibition.
5. To submit a written report following the exhibition and to forward invoices to the Art Gallery of Ontario.
6. To forward up-to-date biographical material to the Art Gallery of Ontario on a regular basis.

Reinhard Reitzenstein Rained Out (The second of five panels in the series), Photograph on masonite 26 x 99 in.; 66 x 39 cm. Courtesy of The Carmen Lamanna Gallery, Toronto

Contact has been developed to meet the needs of communities which in the past have not had the facilities to house exhibitions offered by our ongoing Extension Services program. The Contact series encompasses a number of small-sized exhibits of original works by Canadian artists. Our aim is to present a cross-section of various contemporary techniques and styles, as well as to introduce the viewer to the artist's own approach and concerns in expressing what is important to him or her.

Historical material is presented in facsimile reproduction form because of the obvious inaccessibility of the original works which are of significant historical importance. An illustrated brochure, with a short written text on the artist and his or her work, will accompany each exhibition.

If this is the first time you are booking Contact exhibitions, please note that our staff is available to visit your exhibition space and assist you with any details or queries you might have.

Contact is organized and circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

Space: 8–15 framed works per show; one information panel about the artist and his work. Approx. 60 running feet (182.8 m)

Weight: maximum of 2 crates not exceeding 200 lb. (90 kg) each. Two people will be required to handle the crates.

Shipping: CN/CP Express

Fee: $50.00 including brochures

Security: Secure night locks on all doors and windows. Periodic staff patrols. Small works should be screwed to the wall.

Lighting: Incandescent and/or fluorescent, preferably fitted with ultraviolet filters. No direct sunlight. If you do not have ultraviolet filters, please contact the Scheduling Officer (416) 977-0414, for further information.

Temperature and humidity: Minimal fluctuations

There will be six exhibitions of original works plus three facsimile reproduction shows which will be available for circulation beginning April 1981. They are as follows:

Eisenstein: Drawings for "Ivan the Terrible"

In this selection of facsimile reproductions, the renowned Russian filmmaker and theoretician Sergei Eisenstein illustrates his unique mode of visualizing his ideas and plans for his last film Ivan the Terrible. Before the actual shooting of the film in 1943, Eisenstein in his "visual shorthand" began preparing the scenario on this legendary Tsar of Russia who came to the throne in 1533 at the age of three.

As ideas poured into his imagination, Eisenstein would frantically commit them to scraps of paper, notebooks, envelopes, or anything at hand, fearful of losing them. From these drawings, the outline of the future film gradually took on a coherent form: fragments of dialogue would often be scribbled down spontaneously; and diagrams for the positioning of actors, precise instructions about the design and even the materials for a piece of decor, and suggestions for the composer filled hundreds of drawings, capturing myriad details.

Space: 14 framed works and 1 information panel

Rosalind Goss: Drawings, European Series 1979 – 1980

Rosalind Goss' ability to capture the essential mood of a place and to convey her personal impressions of a particular scene, will be examined through a series of drawings from her recent European travels. The artist works in a variety of media, oil pastel, ink, graphite pencil, acrylic and water colour. Goss uses a minimum of structural devices to achieve a maximum effect. Her approach is one of visual note-taking rather than mere representation. The resulting drawings are poignant and lyrical observations which have particular references and universal appeal.

K.M. Graham Arctic IV High Arctic with Flora, 1975/79 Acrylic and pastel on fibreglass paper 30 x 22 in.; 76.2 x 55.8 cm. Courtesy of Klonaridis Inc., Toronto

K.M. Graham: Arctic Works on Paper

K.M. Graham has made several trips into the Arctic since the early 1970s, spending time in both the high and low Arctic, especially around Cape Dorset. Her works on paper represent more than abstracted landscapes: they are the result of her own deeply felt experiences and her poetic sensitivity to the northern topography. Through a combination of bold line and vibrant and subtle colour, the artist conveys an impression of exhilarating breadth and openness. This exhibition consists of nine works on paper, rendered in acrylic and pastel. These works show how the artist's formal approach as a colourist and her unique response to the intensity of nature are developed.

Space: 9 framed works and 1 information panel

George Hawken: Bound Images

Bundles of asparagus, matchbooks, crowded elevators, small trees and human figures are the subject matter of George Hawken's most recent intaglio prints. These disparate yet commonplace subjects are united by the artist's vision of bound images, both animate and inanimate. The result is a particular organic quality which permeates the works and is the unifying element in this exhibition.

Due to his singular manner of representing familiar objects and situations, Hawken's images share each other's characteristics to the extent that the usual distinctions are blurred and common experience is explored anew. The subtle modulation of line and the gradation of light and dark evoke more than the subject alone; a multitude of fascinating images emanate from each work.

Susan Schelle Untitled, 1980 Concrete, glass, and photograph 5 x 16 x 24 in.; 12.7 x 40.6 x 61.0 cm. Collection of the artist

Karen Kulyk: Colourscapes on Paper

Karen Kulyk transforms her familiar surroundings – her studios, gardens and the interior of homes she has lived in or visited – into colourscapes. These works reflect scenes from a recent period the artist spent in France and England as well as her more immediate environment of Toronto.

The common element in Kulyk's work is the dynamic interplay between colour and the actual objects painted. The artist uses no preparatory sketches but applies the colour directly onto the paper, controlling its spatial application so that it defines, but does not overwhelm, her subject matter. At the same time, she uses powerful colours to create contrasts of planes and patterns. It is this strong combination of colour and form which generates the vibrant energy of these works.

Space: 10 framed works and 1 information panel

Michelangelo: Figure Studies

These 12 facsimile reproductions of Michelangelo's figure studies are representative of the detailed drawings that the master undertook as an integral part of his creative process. Many of the works appeared in variation in later paintings or sculpture. His figure studies were a result of drawing from models as well as his first-hand knowledge of the anatomy of the human body from dissection. This selection represents both his earlier pen studies and his later red and black crayon and chalk works.

Space: 12 frames works and 1 information panel

Reinhard Reitzenstein: Nature in Motion

In a series of highly focused moments, Reinhard Reitzenstein documents two individual episodes in the natural environment, the surface of a river during a rain-fall and the movement of the sun across the sky. The artist uses the camera as a vehicle to isolate and record the changing subtleties of two natural phenomena which normally pass the eye unnoticed. By selecting specific sequential events, the artist draws our attention to the intrinsic process of nature in motion.

Reitzenstein's work reveals a contemporary approach to the environment and man's relationships to it, which is a significant departure from the more traditional expressions of landscape art.

Space: Two series of photographic enlargements, Rained-Out and Sun Pod, 8 frames in total, and 1 information panel

Karen Kulyk The Studio, rue des Grands Augustins, Watercolour on paper 24 x 18 in.; 56 x 75 cm. Courtesy of Marianne Friedland Gallery, Toronto

Susan Schelle: Drawings and Structures

Through her explorations in drawing, photographic documentation and placement of shapes and forms, Susan Schelle addresses the issues of the passage of time and the evolutionary decay of man-made imprints on our natural environment. Her issues are global, basic and infinite.

By utilizing familiar materials such as concrete, steel, glass and the image of water, she invites the viewer to examine what appear to be simplistic compositions. Once confronted, we are presented with an unexpected balance of contrasting textures, an overwhelming serenity, and the necessity of our presence as part of the understanding and completion of the pieces. The universal design forms, placed at first viewing in often precarious landscapes, become symbolic aspects of man's mortality within the wider spectrum of nature. The familiar roof and conical forms and geometric grid are representative of glimpses into our personal memory banks. These shapes allow each of us the imposition of our own experiences in our own time frames within the physical compositions staged by the artist.

Space: 2 sculptures, 4 framed documentation photographs, 4 framed drawings (including 1 multiple piece) and 1 information panel

A Selection from Les Très Riches Heures de Jean, Duc de Berry

At the turn of the fourteenth century, the three Limbourg Brothers were commissioned by the Duc de Berry to create the Très Riches Heures, a book of prayers for private devotion. Due to their gifts of observation and execution, the Limbourgs were able to blend Northern and Italian influences within the French pictorial tradition, to create an original work of art that remains the highest expression of what is known as the International Style.

This selection of facsimile reproductions focuses on the 12 illustrations for the months of the year.

Space: 11 framed works and 1 information panel

There will be five exhibitions of original works plus three facsimile reproduction shows which will be available for circulation beginning April 1980. We hope to have additional exhibitions of original works ready for circulation in the fall of 1980.

The Artists' Jazz Band: Signatures in Time

This exhibition consists of 9 prints, one by each member of the "Artists' Jazz Band" and a cassette tape of their record made in Toronto in 1973. Artists such as Michael Snow, Graham Coughtry and Robert Markle reveal distinct modes of self-expression in both image and sound, art and music. Underlying each individual response is a shared attitude which allows each member to express his own creative impulse and still make a collaborative effort as a jazz group possible.

Space: 9 framed works and 2 information panels

Alex Cameron: The Energy of Line and Colour

Through his dynamic use of colour and application of line, Alex Cameron infuses his work with a great sense of presence. With either water colour or acrylic washes on paper, Cameron paints a picture surface of rich tones. He then draws with oil stick, animating the picture surface with an intense energy of movement. While his drawings are expressive, especially for the feelings they evoke in the viewer, one is always made aware of the deliberate and disciplined hand of the artist who creates this appearance of spontaneity. In this way, his work is at once both bold and subtle. His drawings are basically abstract in nature although the pictorial elements are organized into a landscape framework.

Space: 8 framed works and 1 information panel

Betty Davison: Cast Paper Relief Prints

These 13 prints in 11 frames are a result of transition from sculpture into the bas-relief paper print. The process by which Betty Davison achieves this transition is represented in a series of explanatory photographs. The end results are detailed dimensional images, hand painted in pure colours, expressing her humorous comments on everyday life.

Space: 11 framed works and 2 information panels

Eisenstein: Drawings for "Ivan the Terrible"

In this selection of facsimile reproductions, the renowned Russian filmmaker and theoretician Sergei Eisenstein illustrates his unique mode of visualizing his ideas and plans for his last film Ivan the Terrible. Paul Fournier: Form and Meaning in Nature – The Mushroom

Through the combined technique of monoprinting, wash and drybrush on Japanese paper, Paul Fournier explores the variations of form and texture in the mushroom. His drawings are done in large scale format. Each mushroom study is given a particular significance in its appreciation for the beauty of natural forms and textures and in the expression of the boundless energy of organic life. While Fournier has studied real specimens as well as photographs of mushrooms, his drawings go beyond the mere physical description of a particular plant group. Through the interpretation of these images, Fournier presents both his formal artistic concerns of composition and his love and affinity for nature.

Space: 8 framed works and 1 information panel

Stephen Livick: Photographic Explorations

This photographic artist's work is represented by 12 prints utilizing both silver and platinum emulsions as well as a colour process. His subject matters express his continuing style of central foreshortened imagery. The specific moods are controlled by the variations in tonal qualities and papers. This selection reflects the artist's work from 1975 – 1979 with varying themes from the subtlety of a wire fence across a field, to reflective images drawing the audience in and out of the photograph at several points of view.

Virtually from the founding of Canada Packers in 1927, its first president, J. S. McLean (1876–1954), was involved in the collection of Canadian art. He has long been recognized for his pioneering support of young Canadian artists and his discriminating taste as a collector. Many of the paintings and prints he assembled now form the lion's share of the Canada Packers collection and it is from these works that the present exhibition has been drawn.

Spanning four decades, from the 1910s to the early 1950s, the exhibition provides a rich and varied sampling of the work of many major figures of the period. A.Y. Jackson and David Milne are especially well represented. Other artists in the show are Franklin Carmichael, Emily Carr, A.J. Casson, Lawren S. Harris, J.E.H. MacDonald, Goodridge Roberts, Anne Savage, Carl Schaefer, Philip Surrey, Tom Thomson and F.H. Varley.

The exhibition will include 55–60 oil paintings, sketches and works on paper. They are largely landscapes although there are some figurative works, as well as a number of fine still-lives by Bertram Brooker, Paraskeva Clark, Stanley Cosgrove and Jack Humphrey.

After opening at the Art Gallery of Ontario in February 1982, the exhibition will circulate nationally. An installation officer will accompany the show.

Included in the exhibition fee are 50 illustrated French-English catalogues and 50 English posters. French posters are available upon request.

Organized and circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services and sponsored by Canada Packers Inc.

Space: 200–225 running feet (61–68 m)

Weight: 7–8 crates, 150–250 lb. each (68–113 kg)

Fee: $800

Through prints and three-dimensional multiples this exhibition will offer a selected view of Pop Art, an original mode of artistic expression of the late 1950s and 1960s which combined the figurative and the abstract in a new way. Created in London and New York, Pop Art reflects the urban environment—popular images, commercial attitudes and means.

The concern of the exhibition is visual and stylistic and its focus on American and English artists will demonstrate their significant differences in approach. Selection has been narrowed to artists whose work exemplifies the characteristics and formal ideas of the style and who extensively used the print medium.

The exhibition will be drawn largely from the collection of the Art Gallery of Ontario and will consist of about fifty prints and multiples. The artists represented will include the Americans Andy Warhol, Claes Oldenburg and James Rosenquist, and the British artists Richard Hamilton and Allen Jones.

Following its national tour, Pop Art will be shown at the Art Gallery of Ontario.

Included in the exhibition fee are 25 illustrated brochures as well as posters.

Organized by Marie Fleming, Associate Curator of Contemporary Art, and circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

Space: Approximately 175–200 running feet (53–61m)

Weight: 7 or 8 crates

Folk Art Treasures of Quebec Workboxes Wood 7.5 x 12.6 in.: 19 x 32 cm Collection: Musée des Augustines de l'Hotel-Dieu de Québec

The exhibition comprises some 55 pieces, many of them dating before 1900. Largely functional, these objects were made by artisans who did not set out with the intention of creating works of art. Included are such objects as weather vanes and lanterns, religious sculptures showing the influence of the Quebec clergy, figures and animals in wood, as well as games and toys; utilitarian and decorative objects such as butter and maple sugar moulds, boxes and caskets, wooden decoys, hooked rugs and quilts.

The Quebec folk artist, influenced by his own milieu and heritage, used symbols such as the Quebec flora and fauna, as well as universal motifs like the heart and star to decorate these works. The objects included in the exhibition are among the finest examples of their kind, typifying the folk art of nineteenth century Quebec. Many of the works from private museums and collectors are on loan for the first time.

Complemented by twenty large-size sepia photographs (30 x 40 inches), the exhibition has been selected by Thérèse Latour, formerly Curator of Ethnology at the Musée du Québec, and now Museum Advisor, Direction des Musées et Centres d'exposition for the Quebec Ministère des affaires culturelles. Madame Latour has also prepared the illustrated catalogue which will accompany the exhibition.

Folk Art Treasures of Quebec has been jointly organized by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services and the Direction des Musées et Centres d'exposition, as a special cultural project of the Ontario-Quebec Permanent Commission, funded by the Ontario Ministry of Culture and Recreation and the Québec Ministère des affaires culturelles et intergouvernementales.

Space: Approx. 55 individual pieces; 1500 sq. feet (4572 m). Hanging space required is approx. 150 running feet; about 8 showcases of varying sizes are also included.

From the Collection of Walter Trier Merry-go-round (Tinkle Toy/Automata) German, Erzgebirge 19th century after earlier model, ca. 1790
Turned, carved and assembled, painted wood and paper 19.5 x 9 x 11 cm

Walter Trier, The Meeting on the Town Square, 1926 Watercolour, pen, ink and pencil on paper 35.7 x 48.7 cm

In 1977 the Art Gallery of Ontario received through the Trier-Fodor Foundation the bequest of the Walter Trier oeuvre. At the same time a gallery was established, carrying the name of the artist, for the purpose of displaying graphic art of a humorous, illustrative and representational nature. Trier was born in 1890 in Prague, Bohemia and emigrated to Canada in 1947. He died in 1951 in Collingwood, Ontario.

Trier's great popularity and recognition lie in the context of German romantic art; he represents an extension of the 19th century tradition of artists like Wilhelm Bosch and Carl Spitzweg. Trier's visual vocabulary was inspired and enriched by the whimsical quality of German folk toys. Since his early youth, he had been a devoted collector of folk objects, and toys had gained a special meaning in his life and figured prominently in his art.

Trier contributed drawings to major satirical and humorous magazines in Europe. He also established himself as an illustrator of children's books where the success of such books was largely due to the popularity of his illustrations. In 1936 Trier was forced to leave Germany. He settled in London, England, where he worked as a cartoonist for a weekly paper and designer of front covers for the popular Lilliput magazine. During his life in Canada, he was active in Toronto as a commercial designer.

This exhibition will depict the various aspects of the artist's career through material selected from the family bequest. The exhibition of over 120 works will open at the Art Gallery of Ontario in March of 1980 after which time a smaller selection of approximately 75 items will circulate to provincial exhibition centres. The show will contain water colours and drawings, some oil paintings, books and posters. The works will cover the period from 1915–1950. A group of antique toys from the artist's private collection will complement the exhibition.

Twenty-five illustrated catalogues and a number of posters are included in the exhibition fee. The exhibition will be delivered by truck and installed with the assistance of Art Gallery of Ontario staff.

Painting and Drawing

Anonymous Venetian artist, Fartnell in Travelling Dress, 18th century Pen and ink 9 1/2 x 6 1/2 in.; 24.2 x 16.5 cm. Collection of Albert R. Gellman

Lost for almost two centuries, a collection of recently discovered 18th century Venetian caricature drawings forms the main part of this exhibition of early caricature sketches. After comparing these drawings with two published sketchbooks at Windsor Castle and the Cini Foundation in Venice, the late Edward Croft-Murray, former Keeper of Prints and Drawings at the British Museum, identified this series as part of the lost album of Venetian operatic caricature drawings originally owned by Count Algarotti, an important art patron in 18th century Venice.

The sketches were first attributed to Venetian artist Marco Ricci (1676–1729/30), but Mr. Croft-Murray believed the works were produced in Marco Ricci's studio, or possibly by Antonio Maria Zanetti (1679/80–1767). These humorous sketches not only cast further light on the great singers of early operatic history, but they also point to the existence of a small "caricatural industry" in Venice which supplied drawings for a select group of connoisseurs.

This exhibition of 51 drawings, primarily of opera singers from early 18th century Venetian theatre, is complemented by loans from the Art Gallery of Ontario collection.

Louis Comtois QEA, 1975-76 Acrylic on canvas 72 x 115 in.; 182.8 x 292.1 cm Collection of the artist

Louis Comtois Maki, 1974-75 Acrylic on canvas 84 x 144 in.: 213.3 x 365.7 cm Collection of Art Bank, Canada Council

Louis Comtois is a French Canadian whose paintings have received considerable attention in his native province of Quebec, in the United States and in France. Born in 1945, he studied at the École des Beaux Arts in Montreal and now lives in New York. His work is represented in public and private collections including Canada Council Art Bank, Ottawa; Montreal Museum of Fine Arts; Albright-Knox Art Gallery, Buffalo; and the Art Gallery of Ontario, Toronto.

This exhibition will consist of Comtois' recent work, 1974 to the present, and will contain 12 large paintings of acrylic on canvas.

The paintings of Louis Comtois are essentially about colour – its quality, scale, disposition, interaction, luminosity and vitality – and the distance of space. They are rigorously structured – large in scale, horizontal in format and composed of three or four distinct vertical panels, which are sometimes subdivided into delineated vertical planes. Concentration on each plane or panel slowly reveals a single specific chromatic hue, however finely nuanced its relationship with the other hues may be.

Through this show, the viewer will be able to examine Comtois' exploration of formal colour and space relationships in terms of closely related hues.

The exhibition will be delivered by truck and installed with the assistance of Art Gallery of Ontario staff.

An illustrated catalogue with an introduction by René Payant will accompany the show. Included in the exhibition fee are 50 catalogues.

The exhibition will be presented at the Art Gallery of Ontario under the curatorship of Marie Fleming, Acting Curator of Contemporary Canadian Art. Following its Toronto showing, in March and April 1980, the exhibition will be circulated both provincially and nationally by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

Kochin, India 1882 Illuminated handwritten manuscript on paper 24 x 29 in.; 60.9 x 73.6 cm Collection of the Beth Tzedec Museum, Toronto

Pesara, Italy 1736 Illuminated, square script manuscript on parchment
30½ x 19 in.; 77.4 x 48.2 cm Collection of the Beth Tzedec Museum, Toronto

Ketubah, the ancient form of marriage contract, has been practiced since the fifth century B.C. by those following the Judaic faith.

Drawn from the Talmud in accordance with Jewish law, a man is not allowed to marry without giving his bride a ketubah: a marriage contract stating his obligations as a husband as well as those incumbent upon him in the eventuality of death or divorce. The laws regarding the rendering of a scroll are very clearly delineated, but the ketubah can be written in any script and with any adornment as long as the text complies with tradition.

The adornments of these contracts reflect the styles of art and social status of the families being united in holy wedlock as well as the historical period and geographical location in which they were produced. The selection presented dates as early as 1645 and illustrates these variations. Included in the exhibition are marriage contracts produced as fine illuminated manuscripts in water colour depictions combined with ink script, commissioned by the upper class. Also among those represented are contracts celebrating weddings uniting families of lesser social status which are stylistically less complex.

This selection from the collection of the Beth Tzedec Museum, Toronto presents contracts from Italy, Spain, Persia, India, Eastern Europe, the Far East, the U.S.S.R., Greece and Central Europe.

The exhibition opens at the Art Gallery of Ontario in March, 1980. Twenty-five illustrated catalogues with a scholarly essay and twenty-five colour posters are included in the exhibition fee. The exhibition will be installed by Art Gallery staff and be delivered by truck.

Lent by Edward Ranney and the Chambl family

Edward Ranney Machu Picchu, 1975 Silver print 22 x 28 in.; 55.8 x 71.1 cm. Lent by Edward Ranney and the Cham-bi family

Martin Chambi worked both in a natural light studio, making portraits for the prominent families of Cuzco, and in the surrounding area, documenting his native highland culture. Chambi offers an insider's view of a city distinguished by a strange mix of cultures—traditional Inca and Spanish colonial—and the complex network of relationships that such an inheritance engenders. Chambi's photographs, mainly dating from the 1920s and 1930s, of individual sitters and family groups, of weddings, parties, and traditional Indian festivities, portray special occasions on two levels: first, the occasion that brought the subjects together and summoned the photographer, and second, the act of being photographed.

Edward Ranney, a photographer who lives in Santa Fe, New Mexico, first began taking photographs while studying in Peru in 1964. Since that time, he has travelled extensively in Mexico and Peru, published a book called Stonework of the Maya (1974), and devoted considerable time and effort to bringing Chambi's work to public attention, partly because it has influenced his own development as a photographer. His photographs are part of a series on Inca shrines and architecture and the highland landscapes of Peru, the subjects to which Ranney turned as an alternative approach to the Inca past. The combination of Chambi and Ranney's works provides a more complete view into Peruvian life and history.

All of the Chambi prints were printed by Edward Ranney and Victor Chambi in 1978 and appear courtesy of Ranney and the Chambi family. Ranney's prints are on loan from the photographer.

This exhibition was organized by the Museum of Modern Art, New York, and was made possible by a generous grant from the National Endowment for the Arts.

This portfolio of drypoint prints made by the German Expressionist Max Beckmann (1884–1950) between 1914 and 1918 demonstrates his commitment to portraying man's suffering on many levels. Having lived through the war years in Europe and having served as a medical orderly, he had observed wounded humanity first hand. He became a master of the drypoint and expressed his emotional responses and psychological insights through his use of the ascetic line with its velvety flourishes. His varying subjects include self-portraits, scenes of social decadence, landscape and personal intimacy. This extraordinary portfolio of 19 prints shows the artist at the height of his graphic expression.

A catalogue will be provided with the exhibition.

By the late 1950s, early work in the field of graphic art had commenced in Cape Dorset. At the time a small group of Inuit were experimenting with printing methods such as stencils, lino-cuts, and stone-cuts. The stone-cut print soon became the favoured medium of the Cape Dorset printmakers. However, in 1961, copper plate engraving was introduced to the community as an alternative to stone-cut printing. The intention was to provide Inuit artists with a means to draw images directly on the printing plate rather than transfer drawn images from paper to stone. Engravings dominated the Cape Dorset print collections of 1962 and 1963. Although stone-cut printing again became the major focus of activity in ensuing years, experimentation in the technical potential of engraving continued. In recent times, a revitalization of this process has occurred through the interest of younger Cape Dorset artists. Improved studio facilities, including new etching equipment, have now been established.

This exhibition will comprise some highly interesting examples of Cape Dorset engraving from the earliest works of 1962 to the present day, including a 1980 portfolio of etchings. Among the well-known artists represented are: Pitseolak, Kenojuak, Kiakshuk, Iyola, Kananginak, Jamasie and Parr.

The exhibition has been drawn from the extensive collection of the Department of Indian and Northern Affairs, Canada, and prepared by its Inuit Art Section. Organized and circulated in the Province of Ontario by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

Open Studio began in 1970 in Toronto in Queen Street storefront premises where etching and screenprocess prints were produced as custom prints or as a result of artists renting facilities. After two years, the studio moved to its present King Street West location with the ongoing support of the Ontario Arts Council, Canada Council and the Corporation of Metropolitan Toronto. At this time a lithography department was established.

Today Open Studio comprises a staff of professional practising artists who provide a custom printing service available to artists in a variety of disciplines as well as a publishing program, rental of facilities and classes conducted in all three printmaking media.

From the beginning an archive of the prints produced at Open Studio has been maintained. This archive of nearly 1500 prints is now a fine source to be drawn upon for exhibitions. The current juried exhibition of work produced at Open Studio includes 44 prints by 31 artists. It provides an important overview of Canadian printmaking in all three media during the last ten years and offers a vivid example of why Open Studio enjoys a considerable reputation for excellence in Canadian printmaking.

Claude Melan (1598-1688) Pierre Camus Engraving 8.19 x 6.13 in.: 22.4 x 15.6 cm (paper) Collection Art Gallery of Ontario

Rembrandt Harmensz. van Rijn Christ Clearing the Temple, 1635 Etching 5.63 x 6.81 in.: 14.3 x 17.3 cm (paper) Collection Art Gallery of Ontario

This exhibition will consist of approximately seventy prints ranging in period from the 15th to the 20th century. It will include works by Dürer, Rembrandt, Meryon and Whistler, as well as an outstanding group of 17th century portrait engravings by such men as Nanteuil and Mellan.

Mr. Ralph Presgrave has been intimately involved in organizing the exhibition, which gives it a personal touch. As a collector, he had to acquire specialized knowledge, such as how to use reference texts, and how to identify collectors' marks, media and states, for this is an important aspect of assembling a print collection.

The Presgrave Collection, which was assembled in Toronto, is the largest individual gift of master prints to be given to the Gallery since Sir Edmund Walker's collection in 1926.

Katharine Lochnan, Curator of Prints and Drawings, Art Gallery of Ontario, selected the works and wrote the catalogue that complements the exhibition. Fifty illustrated catalogues are included in the exhibition fee. A Projectbook/Supplement will also accompany the exhibition.

The exhibition will be delivered by truck and installed with the assistance of Art Gallery of Ontario staff.

David Hockney Home from Six Fairy Tales from the Brothers Grimm, 1969 Etching and aquatint 18 x 13 in.: 45.7 x 33 cm
Collection: Petersburg Press Ltd.

David Hockney Bedlam from A Rake's Progress, 1962 Etching and aquatint 11.75 x 15.75 in.; 29.8 x 40 cm Collection: Petersburg Press Ltd.

David Hockney is an artist of international repute. As a printmaker, Hockney has for some years collaborated with Petersburg Press Ltd., who have agreed to lend us a selection of 75 prints. This will include the complete portfolio of the 16 etchings from A Rake's Progress (1961 – 63); a selection from Six Fairy Tales from Brothers Grimm (1969); a selection from the recent portfolio of 20 etchings, The Blue Guitar (1976 – 77), as well as other etchings, aquatints, and lithographs, dating from the early 1960's to 1977.

Since his student days, printmaking has remained a vital means of expression in Hockney's art. From his first large series of prints, A Rake's Progress, which gained him immediate recognition, to his more recent works such as The Blue Guitar, one can trace the many stages in the development of his art and technique and, at the same time, identify certain ideas that have consistently underlain this period of work. In his book illustrations, it can be seen how Hockney uses his imagination to illustrate images and details evoked by the text, rather than their literal meanings. In other prints, his subject matter varies from the paintings he has seen, the trips he has taken, to the friends he has made. A highly personal artist, his art is rooted in his perceptions of actual people and places encountered either first-hand or through literature and art.

Fifty brochures will be included in the exhibition fee. A Projectbook/Supplement will accompany the exhibition.

Resource Information

The Resource Information section is intended to provide quick reference material to exhibiting centres. Additional information is available either from the individual agency or organization listed or from the Head, Extension Services. The various criteria for grants and the various programs offered change periodically in order to be responsive to needs.

Several excellent resource books for community arts groups are:

Cultural Resources in Ontario
Resources for Community Groups
A Public Relations Primer
A Facility Development Workbook
A Programme Development Workbook

These books are published by the Ministry of Culture and Recreation and are available from the Government Bookstore, 880 Bay Street, Toronto, Ontario, M5S 1Z8, or through the regional Field Offices of the Ministry of Culture and Recreation, listed below.

Another excellent resource guide, containing information on funding for museums, travelling exhibitions, helpful organizations, etc. is:

Sources and Resources: A Guide to Museum and Related Resources

It is published by the Ontario Museum Association, 38 Charles Street East, Toronto, Ontario, M4Y 1T1, (416) 923-3868.

All of the above listed books are available free or at a nominal charge.

I GRANTING AGENCIES

The following is a listing of the major grant sources available to non-profit organizations involved in the visual arts in Ontario. In all instances, very strong emphasis is placed on evidence of strong community-based support for the organization; these potential grants cannot be thought of as an alternative to community support.

Public Art Galleries Assistance:

The Council provides assistance to public art galleries both for ongoing programs and for special projects such as exhibitions, publications and events.

Artist-Run Spaces:

Assistance is offered to galleries founded and operated by professional artists which have been in existence for at least one year. Grants may cover operating expenses and costs of experimental exhibitions and other artistic activities.

Visiting Artists:

This program, which is of interest to communities outside major metropolitan areas, enables institutions, such as universities and art galleries, to invite artists from other regions of Canada to meet and exchange views with local artists and to send local artists to other regions. Local institutions normally assume a portion of the expenses.

Explorations Program:

Explorations encourages investigation of new forms of cultural expression and participation. Projects and studies are intended to help introduce new perspectives in our understanding; to develop new means of promoting public enjoyment of artistic and cultural activities; and to foster an appreciation of Canada's heritage.

Capital Assistance Program:

This program provides technical and financial assistance to institutions for capital projects which will provide or upgrade facilities for the preservation of collections of national significance, or make such collections more accessible to the public. Financial assistance is also available towards feasibility studies, long-range institution development plans or specific project planning exercises leading to capital developments.

Exhibitions Assistance Program:

This program provides financial and technical assistance for the preparation, production and circulation, if applicable, of exhibitions which extend the intellectual and physical access by Canadians to the collections which demonstrate Canada's natural and cultural heritage. Assistance is available for travelling exhibitions, temporary exhibitions which do not travel, and, in very limited and well-planned instances, for permanent exhibitions.

Registration Assistance Program:

This program provides financial and technical assistance to museums to document their collections to a certain set of standards. At this time, archaeology, ethnology, history, fine arts and ornithology collections receive priority. Funds are also available to assist an institution in the design and development of a registration system to meet its needs.

Special Activities Assistance Program:

This program provides assistance towards projects which interpret the aims of the National Museum Policy imaginatively and which develop new and innovative ways of making Canadians more aware of their heritage and of their museums. Funds are also available for strategic planning and organizational development purposes within a museum or art gallery.

Training Assistance Program:

This program provides financial assistance to programs of training in museum studies which will promote a greater degree of professionalism in all areas of museum and art gallery work. The program also encourages the expansion of the body of knowledge on museum studies and the development of more effective methods of museum training through assistance to specialized research and study projects.

Visual Arts Grants:

Galleries: Non-profit, publicly-owned galleries may apply for assistance with their program costs, including fees to artists, catalogues, and lecture costs. In the case of artist-run spaces, assistance is available for program and operating costs.

Artists' Co-operatives and Art Associations: Artists' co-operatives and art associations may apply for funds for services that aid professional artists and the local community, e.g., newsletters, workshops, seminars, special exhibitions, public lectures, catalogues, etc.

Please contact the Visual Arts Officer.

Subventions du Bureau Franco-Ontarien:

Galleries et centres d'activités artistiques: Les galeries à but non-lucratif peuvent présenter une demande d'aide financière pour défrayer une partie du coût de leur programmation artistique, incluant le cachet des artistes dans le cadre des expositions.

Associations artistiques et coopératives d'artistes: Les associations artistiques qui n'ont pas de locaux permanents ou un directeur rémunéré à temps plein, peuvent solliciter un appui financier, dans le cadre des services destinés à aider des artistes professionnels et la communauté locale, tels des communiqués de presse, des ateliers, des séminaires, des expositions spéciales, des conférences, des catalogues, etc.

Touring Arts Fund:

Local non-profit sponsors, including art galleries, may apply to the Touring Arts Fund for one-third of the performance fee(s) of professional Canadian touring events to an annual maximum subsidy of $1,000. Three types of sponsors (communities north of the Mattawa line, southern communities with less than 10,000 population, and all Franco-Ontarian sponsors) may apply for fifty per cent of artists' fees, up to an annual maximum subsidy of $1,500.

The Wintario Lottery was established to provide funds for culture, recreation, sports and fitness in Ontario, in addition to, and distinct from, the normal support provided by the Ministry of Culture and Recreation and other government bodies.

The Wintario Grants Program is designed to encourage community groups to design activities in the above areas which are relevant to, and supported by, their communities.

Non-profit community organizations, municipalities, Indian Bands and public library boards may, therefore submit requests for assistance with projects which promote the development of the arts, sports, physical fitness, recreation, citizenship and multiculturalism, heritage conservation and public libraries.

Inquiries about Wintario grants should be directed to your Regional Field Consultant.

Listed below is a brief synopsis of some of the resources available to communities throughout Ontario. Please contact the agencies for confirmation of programs, costs and other details which may be subject to change.

SPEAKERS SERVICE

Through the Speakers Service, communities may book a lecture or lecture series from the Art Gallery of Ontario. Speakers Service members will research and present lectures on a wide variety of topics. Lectures can be related to specific requests concerning a particular subject matter or exhibition, or they can be of a more general nature covering such topics as:

Canadian Art

- A Survey of Art in Canada up to the Group of Seven
- A Survey of Canadian Art from 1920 to the Present
- Canadian Native Art
- Architecture in Canada
- Contemporary Canadian Sculpture
- Contemporary Canadian Painting
- Realism in Canadian Contemporary Art

Art in the Middle Ages

Renaissance vs. Baroque

The Golden Age of the Dutch Masters

Romanticism vs. Classicism

Impressionism and Post-Impressionism

Portraiture

Mythology in Western Art

The Classical Tradition

The Nude in Art

Art and Christianity

The Emergence of Landscape in Painting

A Survey of Sculpture

The Henry Moore Collection

What is Modern Art?

Social Commentary in the Visual Arts

New York Painters of the 50's and 60's

The Involvement of Women in Art

Methods and Media of the Artist

The Speakers Service was initiated in 1978 with funding from Outreach Ontario, and operated as a cost-free program to communities in Ontario. Since Outreach Ontario is no longer able to continue funding this service as an on-going program, the Art Gallery of Ontario has in the past supported the Speakers Service on an equal cost-sharing basis with centres booking the service. A flat fee of $125.00 per lecture is charged to the centre by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services. The Art Gallery will continue to assume all remaining costs for each program.

Requests for speakers should be directed to the Assistant to the Head, Extension Services, Art Gallery of Ontario, 317 Dundas Street West, Toronto, Ontario M5T 1G4, (416) 977-0414.

Visual Arts Ontario is the largest art association in Canada. It is a federation of professional art societies whose mandate is to further awareness and appreciation of the visual arts in Ontario and to co-ordinate the efforts of its seven member professional art societies.

Visual Arts Ontario has compiled the first complete list of Ontario resident artists, craftspeople, and filmmakers, The Index of Ontario Artists. Included in the publication is comprehensive biographical data on all entries as well as indexing and cross-indexing by media.

A comprehensive resources guide to the visual arts in Ontario, The Visual Arts Handbook contains a wealth of information on galleries, schools, supplies, grants, copyright, law, business, finances, etc. A revised and updated Handbook is available.

In addition, Visual Arts Ontario publishes a newsletter, Artviews, every second month, which is available to its membership. Both individual membership and affiliate membership for groups not related to the Professional Societies are available.

Many new benefits are now available to individual and associate members. Phone or write for the new brochure.

(b) Media Kits are also available for circulation within Canada from the Audio-Visual Centre of the Art Gallery of Ontario. The format of the kit and a short description of the contents of each follow:

Arts of the Western World

This series of twelve media kits is a general survey of art history presented in chronological sequence from prehistory to the present. It examines the important stylistic trends in art through the ages, as well as the social, political and religious milieu in which it was created. Each kit contains approximately 35 slides, an audio-tape and an explanatory text. The kits are 15 to 20 minutes in length (except those in two parts which last 30 minutes).

The kits are as follows:

In the Beginning
Greek
Etrusco-Roman
Early Christian and Byzantine
Romanesque
Gothic (in two parts)
Italian Renaissance and Mannerism (in two parts)
The Age of Renaissance and Mannerism outside Italy
Baroque in the 17th Century (in two parts)
Baroque in Rococo in the 18th Century
Multiplication of Styles 1700–1900 (in two parts)
Modern Art (in two parts)

Metropolitan Museum Seminars in Art

These media kits introduce art through analysis and comparison of great paintings from different periods. Each topic examines style, technique and composition.

What is Painting/Realism
Expressionism/Abstraction
Composition: As Pattern, Structure, Expression
Techniques: Fresco/Tempera and Oil/Water Colour, Pastel and Prints
The Artist as Social Critic/The Artist as Visionary

The Centre for Humanities Seminars in Modern Art

This series of media kits offers students a basic introduction to major movements in European and American art from the 1860s to the 1960s. Arranged chronologically, the paintings present an intellectual history of modern man. (Each kit contains 80 slides and the tapes are approximately 20 minutes.)

The Break with Tradition
The Reconstruction of Space
Exploring the Heart and Mind
Contemporary Trends

Henry Moore: Looking at His Work with Philip James

This media kit is an excellent introduction to Henry Moore, as artist and individual. Moore explains his work and replies to questions put to him by his friend Philip James. The kit contains slides, an audio-tape and explanatory text.

Images: Why Man Creates

This media kit is a good introduction to the creative art forms within society. It stresses the significance of creative endeavours throughout history in such diverse areas as painting, writing and dance.

Monet's Years at Giverny

Claude Monet spent 43 years of his life at Giverny painting his surroundings and sensitively recording the rich light and atmosphere. It is there that he developed his new style that bridged the 19th and 20th centuries. This new style and the paintings that he produced at Giverny are the subject of the media kit.

Treasures of Early Irish Art

Magnificent art treasures from early Ireland are gathered together for the first time. Featured are stunning gold and silver ornaments and illuminated manuscripts, including the celebrated Book of Kells. Ancient Irish harp music in the background lends an authentic and unusual touch.

Treasures of Tutankhamun

Beautiful and representative objects from the tomb of the boy-king Tutankhamun (1334-1324 B.C.) including statuettes, masks richly inlaid with jewels, and funerary jewelry and furniture.

All media kits are available for a two-week loan period unless otherwise specified or renewed. The cost is $2.50 per kit plus shipping costs. For further information please contact: Audio-Visual Loans Consultant, Art Gallery of Ontario.

CRAFTSOntario Crafts Council

346 Dundas Street West
Toronto, Ontario, M5T 1G5
(416) 977-3551

The Ontario Crafts Council offers for circulation thirty exhibitions which feature professional craftsmen in their own small exhibitions. The media presented in these exhibitions cover the following: textiles, glass, ceramics, leather, wood and enamelling. Units may be booked through the Ontario Crafts Council.

Each exhibition or unit is quite compact; depending on the size of the centre, a maximum of five individual units may be booked. Please contact the Exhibitions Coordinator at the Ontario Arts Council for further information.

The Craft Resource Centre of the Ontario Crafts Council is an information exchange service for craftsmen, exhibiting centres and interested public. The Resource Centre produces several publications including information on upcoming craft exhibitions, the Ontario Craft Directory, craft education, craft suppliers, media resources information, etc. It also has slides available for sale or rental which include kits by media or by craftsmen. For further information about the above, or concerning specific craft organizations and activities within the Province, please contact the Librarian, Craft Resource Centre.

DANCE, DRAMA, MIME, MUSIC

An excellent source book is published by the Touring Office of the Canada Council. The Touring Artists Directory of the Performing Arts in Canada lists over 800 attractions and some 200 services available to community groups. Copies of the Touring Directory are available at no charge from the Publications Section, Canada Council Touring Office, P.O. Box 1047, Ottawa, Ontario, K1P 5V8. Inclusion in the Touring Directory as an attraction does not necessarily constitute an endorsement of a particular listing by the Canada Council.

Ontour Bulletins which complement the Touring Directory are published several times each year. These bulletins contain detailed information (programs, dates, fees, touring areas, booking contact) about tours throughout Ontario in dance, mime, music, theatre and puppets.

Please contact the Ontour Department, Ontario Arts Council, 151 Bloor Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5S 1T6, (416) 961-1660, if you wish to have your name added to the mailing list for the Ontour Bulletin.

For schools, both elementary and secondary, the Ontario Arts Council also publishes annually the Artslist: A Directory of Performing Arts Attractions for Schools, which gives full details on most events available for young audiences in Ontario. If you wish to receive a copy, contact the Ontario Arts Council, Information Office.

A wide variety of professional artists is represented by artists' managers who will co-ordinate community programs and festivals. Excellent classical and jazz musicians, dancers, theatre groups and other performing artists will perform throughout the Province and are available for single as well as weekly bookings. For information regarding available performers and programs please write:

Canadian Association of Artists' Managers

EXHIBITION SOURCES

In addition to the exhibitions circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services program and the National Gallery's National Program, exhibitions can be booked through the extension departments of other Provincial galleries. These exhibitions as well as individual exhibitions which are organized by galleries in Ontario for circulation within the Province, are listed in Sources and Resources: A Guide to Museum and Related Resources. This book is published by the Ontario Museum Association and is available at a nominal cost from their office at 38 Charles Street East, Toronto, Ontario, M4Y 1T1, (416) 923-3868.

Other major sources of travelling exhibitions within Ontario are:

A.C.T. (Artists Cooperative Toronto), 424 Wellington Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 1E3, (416) 366-2896, also circulates exhibitions of contemporary art. Please contact the Director for a pamphlet of exhibitions available.

The McMichael Canadian Collection, Kleinburg, also has an outreach program. Works of original Canadian art including the Group of Seven, Canadian Group of Painters, and Inuit and Indian art are circulated to suitable community locations. Exhibitions of reproductions of both Canadian and Native art are also available. Please contact the Extension Officer, McMichael Canadian Collection, Kleinburg, Ontario, L0J 1C0, (416) 893-1121, for further information.

The Ontario Educational Communications Authority (OECA or TV Ontario) may be able to provide provincially-funded non-profit educational institutions with advice and expertise regarding the utilization of videotape for cultural programs. OECA also makes available many videotapes through its VIPs program. For more information, contact TV Ontario, P.O. Box 200, Station Q, Toronto, Ontario, M4T 2T1, (416) 484-2700.

The Ontario Science Centre's Science Circus is conceived as an extension of the centre in Toronto. About two dozen exhibits are transported by truck and installed in a public space for up to two weeks; demonstrators from the Science Centre remain in the community. An unmanned travelling exhibition entitled "The Seeing Brain" illustrates the process of visual perception. It is available from one week to several months, to centres providing reasonable levels of security and maintenance. In addition, the Science Centre also has available for circulation a large collection of inventions by Roland Emmett. For further information, please contact the Outreach Office, Ontario Science Centre, 770 Don Mills Road, Don Mills, Ontario, M3C 1T3, (416) 429-4100.

The Royal Botanical Gardens offers a variety of extension programs such as lectures on horticultural topics, plant workshops, exhibits and demonstrations. For further information, please contact the Outreach Coordinator, P.O. Box 399, Hamilton, Ontario, L8N 3H8, (416) 527-1158.

The Royal Ontario Museum offers exhibitions for circulation on a broad range of topics related to their collections. For further information, please contact the Scheduler – Travelling Exhibits, Extension Services, Royal Ontario Museum, 299 Queen Street West, 4th Floor, Toronto, Ontario, M5V 1Z9, (416) 978-2033.

FESTIVAL ONTARIO

Festival Ontario, a program of the Ministry of Culture and Recreation, is designed to make provincial cultural resources more readily available to people throughout Ontario, by offering them free of charge to community festivals. Participating agencies include the Art Gallery of Ontario, the Archives of Ontario, the McMichael Canadian Collection, the Ontario Arts Council and associated organizations, the Ontario Educational Communications Authority, the Ontario Film Theatre, the Ontario Science Centre, the Royal Ontario Museum, the Royal Botanical Gardens, and the Heritage Administration Branch of the Ministry of Culture and Recreation.

The Art Gallery of Ontario is able to offer a variety of programs including selections of work from its Permanent Collection, Extension Services circulating exhibitions, "Artists with their Work", and Speakers Service. Programs are co-ordinated and developed in consultation with a festival organizing committee to suit individual community interests.

A few of the many resources offered by other participating agencies include the Royal Ontario Museum's Speakers Bureau, a variety of illustrated talks on the Royal Ontario Museum's current work in ecology, archaeology, education, Canadiana, palaeontology, astronomy and many other areas. The Royal Botanical Gardens offers a series of talks and demonstrations on horticulture, walks and talks in nature studies, and demonstrations and workshops in botanical arts. The Ontario Science Centre's Circus is available for travel throughout the province and the McMichael Canadian Collection offers exhibitions of framed, colour reproductions.

For information, contact the Festival Ontario Arts Officer, Ministry of Culture and Recreation, 77 Bloor Street West, Toronto, Ontario, M5S 1M2, (416) 965-6509. or your Regional Field Officer.

ONTARIO ASSOCIATION OF ART GALLERIES

While neither a granting agency nor a program source, the Ontario Association of Art Galleries is perhaps the single most important resource for galleries in the Province. Currently over 80 galleries and organizations are members of the Ontario Association of Art Galleries, whose primary aim is to assist in the development of visual art centres and to act as a spokesman on their behalf.

The members of the Secretariat offer many different types of valuable information and advice, in addition to serving the membership.

"Artists with their Work" is a visiting artists programme. It is designed to provide communities in Ontario with access to exhibitions of current work by a selection of contemporary artists practising in a variety of disciplines. The programme includes artists who approach their work in a more traditional manner as well as those whose work is of an experimental or innovative nature.

In conjunction with an exhibition, which may remain on view for two to four weeks, the artist is available to visit the community. The artist can be present for the exhibition's opening, lecture on his/her work, conduct workshops or participate in related community activities for one to four days. The artist's workshop may concentrate on: techniques and approaches to painting, drawing and sculpture; printing processes, such as lithography, etching, engraving; conceptualization and development of film, photography, video and/or performance projects.

Artists working in film, video, projects and performance, can be requested for an evening session, day-long conference or weekend workshop. The artist will bring his/her film or videotape, or, in consultation with the community, develop a project or performance specifically for the community.

The extent and nature of both the exhibition and the artist's involvement can be limited or extensive depending on the community's own interests and needs. In most cases, such details are co-ordinated directly between the community and the artists, with the programme co-ordinator acting as liaison or consultant.

"Artists with their Work" may be used by art galleries, art clubs, libraries and universities or colleges which have exhibition areas accessible to the general public. The programme is also directed toward involving communities which do not usually have access to this type of exhibition/workshop situation and, for this reason, the programme is not available in Metropolitan Toronto.

After selecting the artist and planning the programme of your choice, please complete the Agreement Form at the back of this catalogue and mail it to the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

A catalogue with detailed information on each artist is available on request.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The Exhibiting Centre

1. Accommodation and living expenses for the artist up to maximum of $40.00 per day (hotel, cost of meals).
2. Insurance premium for the artist's work (range: $50.00–$125.00 dependent on the nature of the exhibition and the exhibiting centre). It is essential that the centre carry insurance to cover legal liability.
3. The development of maximum interest and involvement within the community; commitment to comprehensive publicity.
4. Catalogue, invitation costs (if any).
5. Suitable film or video screening facilities and a trained projectionist.
6. Submission of a follow-up report of each programme, including copies of publicity, slides, photographs, newspaper articles, attendance estimates, etc.

Note: Charging registration fees for workshops is discouraged but, if necessary, such fees should only be used to cover additional expenses. To meet the demand for the "Artists with their Work" programme, the number of programmes in any one community is limited to three times per year. Requests should be made at least two months in advance.

Art Gallery of Ontario

1. Artist's honourarium for workshops and exhibition fee.
2. All transportation arrangements and costs for both the artist and the exhibition.
3. Film or video rental fees.
4. Cost of workshop supplies (up to $100.00) upon consultation with the co-ordinator prior to the programme.

Artist

1. Communications with the Art Gallery of Ontario regarding specific details related to each programme.
2. Submission of comments following each programme. Also to include invoices and related material.
3. Forwarding up-to-date biographical material to the Art Gallery of Ontario on a regular basis.

Contact has been realized to meet the needs of communities which in the past have not had the facilities to house exhibitions offered by our ongoing Extension Services' programme. The Contact series encompasses a number of small-sized exhibits of original works by Canadian artists. Our aim is to present a cross-section of various contemporary techniques and styles as well as to introduce the viewer to the artist's own approach and concerns in expressing what is important to him or her.

Historical material is being presented in facsimile reproduction form because of the obvious inaccessibility of the originals which are of significant historical reference.

An illustrated brochure, with a short written text on the artist and his work, will accompany each exhibition.

If this is the first time you are booking Contact exhibitions, please note that our staff is available to visit your exhibition space and assist you with any details or queries you might have.

Contact is organized and circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

Space: 8 – 15 framed works per show; one information panel about the artist and his work. Approx. 60 running feet (182.8 m)

Weight: 1 or 2 small-sized crates not exceeding 150 lbs. (68 kgs) each

Fee: $25 which includes seventy-five brochures

Security: Secure night locks on all doors and windows. Periodic staff patrols. Small works should be screwed to the wall

Lighting: Incandescent and/or fluorescent, preferably fitted with ultra-violet filters. No direct sunlight. If you do not have ultra-violet filters please contact the Scheduling Manager, (416) 977-0414, for further information.

Temperature and humidity: Minimal fluctuations

Helen Duffy: Colour Diary

Colour diaries are as intimate and revealing as written journals. This exhibition of eight water colours and one collage traces the development of an artist's records from early childhood to the present ongoing projects such as the Nature Diary, the pure Colour Diary and the Minute-by-Minute One-Hour Diary.

Space: 9 framed works and 1 information panel

Eisenstein: Drawings for the Theatre

The theatre drawings in this exhibition reveal another side of the genius of Sergei Mikhailovich Eisenstein, universally renowned for his achievements in Soviet cinema as filmmaker, and regarded as an influential film teacher and theoretician.

Eisenstein called his passion for drawing a visual shorthand which fortified him throughout his powerful dialectic and artistic evolution. These 12 facsimile prints are but a few of the thousands of sketches he made, first for the theatre and later for his films.

Space: 12 framed works and 1 information panel

See All the People: Poetry and Prints

The presentation is an unbound "livre deluxe" of ten colour lithographs and two embossings illustrating 12 poems. This complementary blending of poetry and prints is the result of a long and close collaboration between poet David Zimmerman and artist Richard Sturm. Included are the colophon, index, introduction as well as 12 coupled poems and prints.

Space: 15 framed works and 1 information panel

Stephen Hogbin Untitled, 1978 Red oak 20 3/4 x 5 1/8 x 4 in.; 52.5 x 5 1/8 x 10 cm
Courtesy of Aggregation Gallery Ltd., Toronto

Stephen Hogbin: Sculptor in Wood

Through Stephen Hogbin's innovative design of a wood-working machine, he has explored varying aspects of form. His five sculptures in wood are a result of this exploration. A single collage of his sketches and Alphabet piece give us an insight into the varying sensibilities produced by this artist through his technology.

Space: 6 sculptures, 1 framed work and 1 information panel

Brian Kelley Trans Canada Series, 1978 Aquatint and etching 10.8 x 6.7 in.; 27.5 x 17 cm Collection of the artist

Jane Martin Window Seat, 1978 Oil on board 22 x 24 in.; 55.8 x 60.9 cm
Collection of Betty Davison, Ottawa

Brian Kelley: Intaglio Printing

Many techniques are employed in etching. These 12 prints by Brian Kelley use the intaglio process and show examples of drypoint, aquatint and mezzotint. Images of still-lives, landscapes and figures are traditional, yet the artist has imbued these with his own personal way of seeing.

Space: 12 framed works and 1 information panel

Jane Martin: Personal Reflections in Oil

Jane Martin explores the aspects of painting with oil directly on the board as opposed to being drawn from a series of sketches. Her studies of people and colourful backgrounds integrate themselves into the simplistic compositions achieved. Because of her "moving the paint around" until the image begins to emerge, there is a fascinating spontaneity coupled with the time consuming aspect of applying the colour layer by layer. The ten studies present varying insights into works produced from 1975 – 1978.

Space: 10 framed works and 1 information panel

The treasures from the tomb of Tutankhamun have attracted incredibly large numbers of viewers in both Europe and North America. The splendour of the artifacts in the Tutankhamun exhibition amaze modern day audiences! But Egyptian craftsmen had produced such splendid objects for some 1800 years before, and approximately 1000 years after Tutankhamun's death. Equipment for Eternity: Egyptian Arts and Crafts of the New Kingdom 1570 to 1085 B.C. is an exhibition which celebrates the artistic achievements of this era. The eighty-eight artifacts in the exhibition are drawn from the Egyptian Collection of the Royal Ontario Museum, and are permanently mounted inside ten multiscreen showcases. Each showcase highlights and explains one facet of artistic expression using ink drawings, colour photographs, and a concise text. Among the artifacts included in the exhibition are ancient glass vessels and beads, carved wood and stone shawabty figures, as well as jewellery.

Accompanying the exhibition are 150 copies of a complementary catalogue, with introductory text which discusses the role of the artist/craftsman in the New Kingdom and describes the techniques employed.

Installation Officers will not accompany the exhibition: however, the artifacts are permanently mounted in the showcases, and are accompanied by full installation instructions.

Organized and circulated jointly by the Art Gallery of Ontario and Royal Ontario Museum Extension Services, through the generous support of Outreach Ontario, a programme of the Ministry of Culture and Recreation.

Space: Approximately 500 sq.ft. (1524 m) for ten showcases plus one lead panel

Weight: To be determined

Personnel required for installation: three people for approximately three hours

Fee: Due to the financial support of Outreach Ontario, a programme of the Ministry of Culture and Recreation, the exhibition is available at no cost to your community.

Date available for circulation: November 1979 – September 1981

Security: Attendant on duty during open hours, secure night locks, and either a burglar alarm connected to a police station, or a burglar alarm and police patrol at night.

Lighting: Incandescent only: maximum 50 lux

Temperature and humidity: 30% minimum – 50% maximum (with a maximum daily fluctuation of 5%). Between 70° – 76°F (21° – 24.4°C)

Special requirements: Avoid sudden changes in relative humidity and/or temperature. Exhibit should be allowed to acclimatize, in the exhibit area if possible, for 24 hours before being removed from crates.

The mid and late sixties witnessed an unprecedented evolution in three-dimensional contemporary art. This development discarded traditional sculptural conventions of space and time in favour of a sensibility that dealt with considerations of structure rather than thematic implications. Some of the issues set forth in the 60's involved the aesthetic perception of process, material presence, the juxtaposition of materials, the melding of real and illusionary space and the examination of mass and the literal space through which it cuts.

The purpose of this exhibition will be to address these sculptural approaches, using examples from the Art Gallery of Ontario's Permanent Collection. In doing so, we hope to provide a wide audience with access to works in our Collection which have rarely travelled before, and at the same time offer a stimulating source for educational and interpretative programming.

Sculpture of the 60's will be divided into three exhibitions consisting of three to four large scale sculptures per show. Most of the sculptures are floor pieces; two of the works require wall installation.

The artists represented are: Carl André, Karl Beveridge, Dan Flavin, Donald Judd, Robert Morris, David Rabinowitch, Alan Saret, Henry Saxe, David Smith and Edward Zelenak.

The exhibition will be documented with printed and illustrated note-texts on each work as well as a general introduction to the subject matter as a whole. A number of these information pamphlets will be included in the exhibition fee. A Projectbook/Supplement will accompany the exhibition.

Each exhibition will be delivered by truck and installed with the assistance of Art Gallery of Ontario staff. Organized and circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

Space: Approx. 2,000 square feet. Although each exhibition contains a small number of works, the relatively large size of each piece necessitates a spacious display area in order to maintain an appropriate physical inter-relationship between the works and also to allow for adequate viewing distance.

Weight: No crates, but packaging and cradling for 3-4 large sculptures.

Fee: $250

Date available for circulation within the following periods:

Show #1: October 1980 – January 31, 1981

Show #2: March 1, 1981 – September 1, 1981

Show #3: October 1980 – October 1981

*See individual listing of each show for specific details.

Security: Electronic alarm system. In view of an attendant. Because these works are large and in some cases, finely balanced, they require very exact installation which cannot be altered. Therefore, handling and/or touching of the works cannot be permitted.

Lighting: Incandescent only: maximum 50 lux

Temperature and humidity: Maximum fluctuation of $\pm 10\%$ from a norm of 50% humidity, and between 68° – 72°F (20° – 21°C)

FACILITIES

Almost any room will do—a library, gallery, community centre, perhaps even a warehouse.

The participating artists know how to make the best use of the available space, and will work closely with a community representative to create an inventive and involving programme.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The Exhibiting Centre

1. Accommodation and living expenses for the artist up to maximum of $40.00 per day (hotel, cost of meals).
2. Insurance premium for the artist's work (range: $50.00–$125.00 dependent on the nature of the exhibition and the exhibiting centre). It is essential that the centre carry insurance to cover legal liability.
3. The development of maximum interest and involvement within the community; commitment to comprehensive publicity.
4. Catalogue, invitation costs (if any).
5. Suitable film or video screening facilities and a trained projectionist.
6. Submission of a follow-up report of each programme, including copies of publicity, slides, photographs, newspaper articles, attendance estimates, etc.

Note: Charging registration fees for workshops is discouraged but, if necessary, such fees should only be used to cover additional expenses. To meet the demand for the "Artists with their Work" programme, the number of programmes in any one community is limited to three times per year. Requests should be made at least two months in advance.

Art Gallery of Ontario

1. Artist's honoraria for workshops and exhibition fee.
2. All transportation arrangements and costs for both the artist and the exhibition.
3. Film or video rental fees.
4. Cost of workshop supplies (up to $100.00) upon consultation with the co-ordinator prior to the programme.

Artist

1. Communications with the Art Gallery of Ontario regarding specific details related to each programme.

187.0 x 57.5 x 57.5 cm Collection of the Canada Council Art Bank

This exhibition explores the question of the creative process through the examination of the work of six artists, five contemporary and one historical—Alex Colville, Lynn Donoghue, John Gould, John MacGregor, Tony Urquhart and Robert Harris. As a group, they present a variety of working methods and styles which, in the context of this exhibition, offers an interesting sampling of approaches. These approaches, when examined individually or comparatively, have the potential to instill both a greater general appreciation of what is involved in the making of art and an interest to investigate this subject further.

Given the content of this show, the statements written by the artists and in the case of Robert Harris, statements taken from his papers, it is hoped that the viewer will be rewarded with a valuable insight into the thoughts, feelings and activities which the development of a work of art involves.

This exhibition opened in Gallery E of the Art Gallery of Ontario in November 1978 and circulates nationally during 1979.

Fifty catalogues and posters are included in the exhibition fee. This exhibition will be delivered by truck and installed with the assistance of Art Gallery of Ontario staff. Organized and circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

Space: 40 works, 6 artists' statements, 1 lead panel; approximately 250 running ft. (76 m)

Weight: 11 crates; 150-350 lbs. each (68-159 kg)

Lighting: Incandescent only

Temperature and humidity: Maximum fluctuation of $\pm 10\%$ from norm of 50% humidity and between 68°–72°F (20°–22°C).

Lent by the British Council

Punch magazine has long been an institution in the literary scene in Britain, reflecting the social and political preoccupations of each successive period, and sustaining a high standard of draughtsmanship in its illustrations. The magazine has established a reputation for humour rather than satire, and has never gone in for the cutting edge of some of its European counterparts. This collection of drawings, borrowed from the Punch Archives, ranges over the last 100 years and includes works by many well-known early cartoonists such as Charles Keene, John Leech, Ernest Shephard and G. M. Brock, as well as present day artists, for example, Apicella, Larry, Trog, Mahood, Honeysett and others. Political subjects have been minimized in the selection and the great majority of the drawings reflect the humorous side of more general aspects of life.

Included are 118 drawings and 3 cover originals. Brochures and posters are included in the exhibition fee.

Organized by The British Arts Council and circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

In recent years the Art Gallery of Ontario has been fortunate to have acquired through gift or purchase some very fine prints that constitute an important addition to the Permanent Collection. Stylistically, these prints span the 15th to the 20th centuries and demonstrate many printing techniques: etching, drypoint, engraving, woodcut, aquatint and lithography.

The earliest of these works by Wolgemut and Glockenden are medieval in character, typifying the gothic style. There are fine examples of early Renaissance prints such as Dürer's Christ Shown to the People, as well as prints by such masters as Rembrandt and Goya. However, the most recent acquisitions concentrate on 19th century works by French and English printmakers, and includes lithographs by Daumier and Bonnard, and etchings by Delacroix, Manet, Corot and Whistler. The latest work in the exhibition is a lithograph by the Russian, Wassily Kandinsky.

The exhibition represents the finest and most diverse works acquired since 1975 by the Art Gallery of Ontario's Curator of Prints and Drawings, Katharine Jordan Lochnan, who has also written the catalogue that complements the exhibition.

Fifty illustrated catalogues are included in the exhibition fee. The exhibition will be delivered by truck and installed with the assistance of Art Gallery of Ontario staff. Organized and circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

Fringe Research

Through this project the Art Gallery of Ontario encourages exhibiting centres in Ontario to present exhibitions and programmes which involve the community and the artist.

The "Artists with their Work" programme is designed to provide communities across Ontario with visiting artists who will discuss their approaches to art and creative processes in conjunction with an exhibition of their work. A selection of artists practising in a variety of disciplines has participated in the programme during the past six years.

The form and content of each programme is unique. Groups such as art galleries, art clubs, libraries, recreation associations, craft societies, universities or colleges may design an exhibition and workshop specifically related to their community's interests, in consultation with the artist and the co-ordinator of the programme.

Upon request, the exhibition of the artist's work can remain on view up to four weeks. The artist is available to conduct workshops, demonstrations or classes for a period of one to four days. The installation and dismantling of the exhibition is to be supervised by the artist.

The programme is specifically directed toward involving communities which do not usually have access to this type of exhibition/workshop situation. For this reason, the programme is not available in Metropolitan Toronto. Communities in Northern Ontario in particular are encouraged to request the programme.

Included in the programme are film and video artists, painters, photographers, potters, printmakers, textile artists and sculptors. Possible areas of concentration in the workshops may include techniques and approaches to painting, drawing and sculpture; papermaking techniques; printing processes such as lithography, etching, engraving; materials and forms in ceramic art; the principles of colour and design; the use of textiles and fibres to create new forms; experimentation with stained glass; experimentation with video to communicate or create an experience.

The programme also offers an opportunity to gain some insight into the approaches and processes of Canadian filmmakers and video artists working in Ontario. Artists working in documentary, fiction, animation, and video, can be requested for an evening session, day-long conference or weekend workshop. The artist will bring his or her film or video-tapes, and a suitable format for the specific visit will be developed in consultation with the artist, the community, the programme co-ordinator, the Canadian Filmmakers' Distribution Centre and Art Metropole in Toronto.

The Art Gallery of Ontario encourages both the artist and the centre to submit their comments to the co-ordinator of the programme, after an exhibition/workshop has taken place.

After selecting the artist and planning the programme of your choice, please complete the Agreement form at the back of this catalogue and mail it to the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

A catalogue with detailed information on each artist is available on request.

FACILITIES

Almost any room will do—a library, gallery, community centre, perhaps even a warehouse.

The participating artists know how to make the best use of the available space, and will work closely with a community representative to create an inventive and involving programme.

RESPONSIBILITIES

The Exhibiting Centre

1. Accommodation and living expenses for the artist up to a maximum of $40.00 per day (hotel, cost of meals).
2. Insurance premium for the artist's work (range: $50.00–$125.00 dependent on the nature of the exhibition and the exhibiting centre). It is essential that the centre carry insurance to cover legal liability.
3. The development of maximum interest and involvement within the group or community; commitment to comprehensive publicity.
4. Catalogue, invitation costs (if any).
5. Suitable film or video screening facilities and a trained projectionist.
6. Submission of a follow-up report of each programme, including copies of publicity, slides, photographs, newspaper articles, attendance estimates, etc.

Note: Charging registration fees for workshops is discouraged but, if necessary, such fees should only be used to cover additional expenses. To meet the demand for the "Artists with their Work" programme, the number of programmes at any one centre is limited to three times per year. Requests should be made at least two months in advance.

Art Gallery of Ontario

1. Artist's honoraria for workshops and exhibition fee.
2. All transportation arrangements and costs for both the artist and the exhibition.
3. Film or video rental fees.
4. Cost of workshop supplies (up to $100.00) upon consultation with the co-ordinator prior to the programme.

Artist

1. Communications with the Art Gallery of Ontario regarding specific details related to each programme.
2. Submission of comments following each programme. Also to include invoices and related material.
3. Forwarding up-to-date biographical material to the Art Gallery of Ontario on a regular basis.

Contact has been realized in direct response to the needs of communities which in the past have not had the space or facilities to house exhibitions circulated by Extension Services. This title encompasses a number of small-sized exhibits of works by Canadian artists.

Our aim is to present a cross-section of different art forms and themes, as an introduction not only to techniques currently used and explored, but also to the artist's own approach in expressing what is important to him or her.

Contact is made possible by assistance from the National Museums Corporation, Ottawa, with additional funding from Outreach Ontario.

Organized and circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

Consultant: Helen Duffy.

Space: Between 8-12 works; one panel about the artist; one panel about technique

Weight: 1 crate, about 125-150 lbs. (57-68 kg) each

Fee: $40

Date available for circulation: April 1978

Security: Periodic patrols; secure night locks

Lighting: Incandescent or fluorescent

Sharon MacLennan: The Contemporary Portrait

This exhibition reveals one artist's approach to what is now considered a traditional art form—the portrait. The exhibition includes preliminary pencil studies and finished portraits in oil.

Carlos Marchiori: Toronto Old and New

A series of eight acrylic paintings each measuring 22" x 30" which date from November, 1976. In these paintings by Carlos Marchiori, the cityscapes float in whimsical interpretations, familiar corners and buildings soar to unexpected perspectives.

Ian Wallace The Christmas Tree House Pencil 5½ x 12¾ in.; 13.9 x 32.3 cm

G. Brender à Brandis Goats in Barnyard, 1976 Woodprint
8¾ x 7½ in.; 22.2 x 20 cm

Phil Richards Pastels on Vinyl (detail) Coloured pencil
9 x 12 in.; 22.8 x 30.4 cm

Ian Wallace: Children's Book Illustrations

A delightful book for children, The Christmas Tree House is written and illustrated by Ian Wallace. This exhibition includes the eleven original pencil drawings which illustrate the story. Copies of the book sent to each exhibiting centre may be kept.

G. Brender à Brandis: Wood Engravings

G. Brender à Brandis is a printmaker who produces wood engravings for single frames, portfolios and limited edition books. The exhibition includes examples of wood blocks and engraving tools as well as a selection of his fine wood prints.

Phil Richards: Coloured Drawings

Phil Richards' coloured pencil drawings reveal his sensitivity to everyday objects observed with understanding and expressed in an unusual juxtaposition of colour. The exhibition includes ten works.

Doris McCarthy

Doris McCarthy: Arctic Landscapes

Well-known as a painter and art teacher in Toronto, Doris McCarthy has made several trips to the Arctic regions in the past few years. Her water colour and oil paintings reflect her deep understanding for the northern landscape. Included with the exhibit is a half-hour video cassette of the CBC's interview with Doris McCarthy on the Take 30 show.

David Partridge in his studio

David Partridge: Mural Sculpture

Metropolis, David Partridge's mural nail sculpture was commissioned for Toronto's City Hall. The exhibition shows the original maquette for this work, a photograph of the finished work (7' x 32'), and other examples of his "nailies."

Three Programmes of Canadian Short Films

A travelling exhibition co-sponsored by the Art Gallery of Ontario and the National Film Board of Canada

Le Scrapeur, 1976, directed by Bruno Carrière

This exciting new expansion of our circulating exhibition policy offers three complete programmes of contemporary films by Canadian filmmakers. Organized with the assistance of the National Film Board of Canada and the co-operation of the Canadian Filmmakers Distribution Centre under the co-ordination of Ian Birnie, responsible for Media Programmes at the Art Gallery of Ontario, the programmes were chosen by Jean-Pierre Bastien of La cinémathèque québécoise, Doug Eliuk, National Film Board, Tony Reif of the Pacific Cinémathèque, and Ian Birnie, and show work by filmmakers from across Canada.

While it may be possible to book only one programme, galleries are strongly encouraged to consider all three, to give their community exposure to the full range of what Canadian filmmakers are involved in.

Bookings are to be made using the Standard Booking Form at the back of the catalogue; the three programmes will count as only one exhibition. Due to the support of the National Film Board, no fee will be charged for these programmes; the cost of delivery will be the responsibility of the receiving gallery.

A 16 mm sound projector and experienced projectionist are required. Detailed programme notes are available.

John Meredith Untitled 1, 1966 Oil on canvas 48 x 36¼ in.; 121.9 x 92 cm

William McElchern Sicut Passer Erepta Est, 1968 Bronze 21½ x 25½ x 16 in.; 54.6 x 64.7 x 40.6 cm

In 1965, Imperial Oil Limited began to acquire Canadian works of art which would be made accessible to the general public through travelling exhibitions. An important consideration in their acquisition policy was to include not only established names but younger promising artists as well. This innovative step taken by a large corporation had a two-fold purpose: to further public awareness of the visual arts and to support the Canadian art community.

The collection has now grown to over 150 works and approximately one-third of these will be shown in the present exhibition, which has been made possible by a grant from Imperial Oil Limited in honour of their Centennial in 1980. Sculpture, paintings, prints and drawings will be included and some of the artists represented are "Jock" Macdonald, David Milne, F. H. Varley, Jack Humphrey, Goodridge Roberts, Claude Breeze, John Meredith, Louis de Niverville, Jack Bush, Gershon Iskowitz, Hugh Mackenzie, Esther Warkov, Jan Wyers, William McElchern, Viktor Tinkl, and Gino Lorcini.

Following its national tour, the exhibition will be shown at the Art Gallery of Ontario in January of 1980.

Fifty illustrated catalogues and posters are included in the exhibition fee.

This exhibition consists of the varied media works of three Ontario artists: Bonita Collins, working in ceramic and acrylic sculpture. Charles Pachter, printmaker, painter and draughtsman and Viktor Tinkl, sculptor of wood, metal and other media.

Bonita Collins, whose past work has been smaller scale ceramic sculpture, is presently working out larger concepts which demand larger format, utilizing acrylic chemistry. Her attention to details, colour subtleties, and her approach to concepts (growing from puns, plays on words integrated with contemporary ikons) provide the viewer with an exciting visual exploration.

Charles Pachter works as a painter, printmaker and draughtsman, approaching his varying subject matters with expertise and deep social concern. It is important to enjoy his approach to specific subject matters of Canadian interest, but also to take away with you the humour of the moment as well as the challenge of existing values that linger.

Viktor Tinkl's imagery takes the form of totems, birds, dogs, cats, snakes and varying forms thereof, creating imaginary creatures, semi-human and fantastic. "The animals which you see hanging from the ceiling and the dog I made, they are motivated by a log or a rope or the legs of an old chair or some such thing, skulls of animals, teeth, anything like that. I enjoy them for what they are, but for some reason these animals are in me and they just have to come out somehow."

All three artists share one obvious link, an overt humorous expression. But is humour really funny? Perhaps we should examine in greater depth the different facets of humour that are explored.

This exhibition includes paintings, prints, drawings, water colours, sculptures (stands are provided where needed), floor sculpture and some pieces to be suspended.

Thirty-five posters, twenty-five colour catalogues and thirty buttons are included in the exhibition fee. The exhibition will be delivered by truck and installed with the assistance of Art Gallery of Ontario staff.

The Ontario Potters Association was formed in 1975 to meet the expressed need of potters' guilds and professionals for more communication about what is happening in the ceramic arts and for the encouragement of excellence in the craft. Their first juried exhibition is Down to Earth.

The works were gathered together in February 1976 for presentation to a jury chosen by the Ontario Potters Association. Extension Services has chosen a small but excellent representation from the exhibition held at McMaster University Art Gallery in May 1976.

Twenty-five posters accompany the exhibition.*

Although some Inuit games may have been replaced by modern forms of entertainment, many of the more traditional pastimes are still continued today. Generally simple by necessity, they are often based on the skills needed for survival in the harsh environment of northern Canada. This exhibition represents through prints and sculpture a wide variety of games such as wrestling and kickball, and also provides examples of dolls and other related artifacts.

A cassette tape recording of Inuit music will be included with the exhibition, as well as a series of instructions on how some games can be played. Two films, Ukaliq and Spirit in a Landscape: The People Beyond, are available. A booking form for these films will be included with the kit sent out one month prior to the exhibition. Please complete the form and forward immediately to the Audio-Visual Centre, Art Gallery of Ontario, Grange Park, Toronto, Ontario, M5T 1G4.

Three hundred brochures and fifty posters accompany the exhibit. The exhibition will be shipped by rail and installed by Art Gallery of Ontario staff.

Paterson Ewen Andromeda Galaxy, 1974 Japanese ink, water colour, acrylic on paper 40 x 47 in.; 101.6 x 119.3 cm

On October 18, 1977 the twenty-six paintings, sculpture and works on paper comprising the Queen's Silver Jubilee Art Collection were presented to Elizabeth II as Ontario's gift to Her Majesty in honour of her Silver Jubilee. These works represent the many approaches of artists currently living and working in Ontario; following exhibition in centres in the province, the individual works will be returned to those galleries who initially selected them. Artists represented in the collection are Christopher Birt, David Bolduc, Richard Bonderencko, Peter Borowsky, Alex Cameron, Ian Carr-Harris, David Craven, Greg Curnoe, Paul Dempsey, Louis de Niverville, David Elliott, Paterson Ewen, Anne Fines, Paul Fournier, Erik Gamble, Art Green, Denise Ireland, Gershon Iskowitz, Brian Jones, Harold Klunder, Peter Kolisnyk, Clark McDougall, Gilbert Moll, Daniel Leigh, Aiko Suzuki, and Mia Westerlund.

The exhibition is fully documented in a full colour catalogue available through the Government of Ontario Bookstore, 880 Bay Street, Toronto, (416) 965-2054.

The Queen's Silver Jubilee Art Collection was organized by Linda Belshaw, Administrator of the Collection, and is circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services. The exhibition will be delivered by truck and installed with the assistance of Art Gallery of Ontario staff.

This major exhibition will give the public an unusual opportunity to trace the growth of a work of art from conception to completion.

Both two- and three-dimensional works will be exhibited along with a selection of related preparatory material. Present research indicates that while the show will concentrate on the work of contemporary artists such as Alex Colville and Tony Urquhart, at least one historical artist, Robert Harris, will also be represented. Statements by the artists themselves will be included in the accompanying catalogue wherever possible. Taken together with the exhibited items, these statements will reward the viewer with an invaluable insight into the creative process.

The Work of Art: Five Artists will open at the Art Gallery of Ontario in the late fall of 1978 and will then circulate nationally.

Fifty catalogues are included in the exhibition fee. This exhibition will be delivered by truck and installed with the assistance of Art Gallery of Ontario staff.

Within the various colleges and faculties of the University of Toronto there exists a rich and varied collection of Canadian works of art, many of which form an integral part of our cultural heritage.

Although long enjoyed by those of the university community, this collection has not normally been accessible for viewing by the general public. In celebration of their Sesquicentennial, the University of Toronto has made available a selection of these rarely seen works for circulation to a wider audience.

The exhibition contains 31 paintings and sketches from the period 1915-48. Particularly well-represented is the Group of Seven and such major contemporaries as Tom Thomson, Emily Carr and David Milne. The works were chosen from University College, Victoria College and Hart House, the unique student union.

The exhibition opened at the Art Gallery of Ontario in the fall of 1977.

Fifty well-illustrated catalogues and twenty-five colour posters are included in the exhibition fee. The exhibition will be delivered by truck and installed with the assistance of Art Gallery of Ontario staff.

William Nicol Cresswell On Lake Huron, 1867 Water colour 9³/₁₆ x 13¹¹/₁₆ in.; 23.3 x 34.8 cm

A selection of nineteenth century Canadian water colours from the collection of the Art Gallery of Ontario is supplemented by works from the National Gallery of Canada, the Royal Ontario Museum and private sources. The pictures indicate the prevailing romantic interest in picturesque and sublime landscape motifs, and exhibit a variety of approaches to the technique of water-colour painting.

William Nicol Cresswell, Daniel Fowler, James Duncan, John A. Fraser, Lucius R. O'Brien, and Frederick Verner are some of the artists whose works are represented in this exhibition.

Jeremy Adamson, Curator of Canadian Historical Art, Art Gallery of Ontario, selected the water colours and wrote the catalogue that complements the exhibition.

Twenty-five illustrated catalogues are included in the exhibition fee.

Les Levine Northern Landscapes, 1974 Pastel on paper 29½ x 39½ in.; 74.9 x 100.3 cm

A Canadian artist now living in New York City, Les Levine spent several weeks during the summer of 1974 at Cape Dorset where he explored the surrounding landscape and talked to some of the local people. This exhibition is a selection of some 25 crayon pastel drawings of his personal impressions of the landscape, and the life of the community.

An hour-long video tape entitled We are Still Alive, made on the same visit, is also available, and adds an important dimension to the exhibition concept.

Les Levine would be pleased to participate in a workshop in conjunction with the exhibition, but travel from New York City and living expenses must be paid by the exhibiting centre, as well as a fee to be agreed upon with the artist.

A colour poster will accompany the exhibit.

In 1959, a group of painters from Regina attended an Emma Lake workshop conducted by Barnett Newman. Referred to later as "The Regina Five," these artists heralded the coming of age of abstract painting in the West. Fortunately for Canada and the art public everywhere, the work of a number of exceptional abstract painters is presently being noticed because of increased interest in the Prairies. This exhibition demonstrates not only the high quality of the work being done, but also the unique brand of rawness, brashness and originality that separates the work from comparable painting in Toronto or New York.

The following artists are represented in this exhibition: William Perehudoff, Otto Rogers and Robert Christie from Saskatoon, Bruce O'Neil from Calgary, and Douglas Haynes, Richard Chenier and Ann Clarke Darrah from Edmonton.

Raymond Ouellet, Extension Curator of the Edmonton Art Gallery, selected the works and wrote the information accompanying the exhibition.

Unexpected Pleasures, an exhibition of fifty paintings by senior citizens, was enthusiastically received when it was shown at the Art Gallery of Ontario in the fall of 1976. The artists, whose pictures often reflect the wide range of their ethnic backgrounds, have all attended the classes given by Herschel Stroyman at the St. Christopher House Older Adult Centre and the Centre for Creative Living in Toronto. Most of them had never painted before reaching the age of "retirement," and although this lack of experience and formal training is evident in their work, their approach to art is invariably imaginative and resourceful. Surprisingly versatile results have been produced by people from whom we (and often the individuals themselves) have come to expect little, and so the exhibition is intended to be shown primarily in libraries and community centres where it is hoped it will encourage other senior citizens to participate in similar programmes.

Mr. Stroyman is available for lectures and workshops in connection with the exhibition.

"On a trip to London, England in 1975, I noticed the demolition of whole streets of old, terraced houses. I could look through windowless, gutted houses and see far at the end, an ancient garden that seemed to me the remnant of a forgotten civilization. What had begun as an interest grew into a passion. Ontario is a richness of fanciful masonry, and the effects of light on time-soaked bricks fascinated me. For two years I worked not only to record these visual experiences, but to discover for myself the unconscious associations arising from them. Thus, the old façades, the arches and windows through which radiates the light of an unseen sun, the walls bearing the messages of unknown hands, are to me a metaphor for the profound human need to bequeath to the enduring earth and sky, the evidence of our existence."

These twenty-five water colour paintings are an in-depth study of a definitive subject matter, executed by June Drutz, a mature artist, expert in this medium.

Niaux, Ariège Detail of bison from the "Salon Noir"

Peché-Merle, Lot Long haired mammoth

Few areas of art have fired the public imagination as much as the cave paintings of Europe. Often reaching a surprising level of sophistication, these pictures provide a fascinating record of the way of life and beliefs of our earliest ancestors. Although many of the sites have been discovered only recently, an increasing number, including the most famous of them all, Lascaux, have already been closed to the general public to ensure their survival. The inaccessibility of the material adds to the significance of Art of the Caves, an exhibition of more than thirty photographs by Jim Hollander. The caves represented include, among others, Niaux, Pech-Merle, Le Portel, and Cougnac in France, Gargas in the Pyrenees, La Pileta in the south of Spain and Levanzo in Sicily. The examples selected illustrate a wide variety of techniques (painting, "spray" painting, engraving and modelling) and subject matter (mammoths, bison, stags and horses as well as human figures and abstract forms).

Twenty-five catalogues are included in the exhibition fee as well as a chronological chart and a map of Europe showing the principal sites.

J. C. Heywood Untitled, 1976 Silver print 15¾ x 19¼ in.; 40 x 48.9 cm

J. C. Heywood is basically a painter-printmaker. He has used photography for many years to service his screen prints in loose manipulative ways that end up being closer to painting than to photography. Like many other painters, however, who ponder and push at the limits of aesthetics, he sometimes finds himself becoming bored with the whole subject of "Art." When he arrives at one of these dead ends, he often turns for refreshment to what he calls his "excursions into Fact." Certainly it is this factual aspect of photography that Heywood seeks out in his camera work, and it is interesting that so many of these documentary pictures do turn out to be very beautiful in spite of themselves.

Carl Heywood lived in France for a number of years and returned to his native Ontario in 1973. He soon realized that he had become highly sensitized to familiar aspects of Canadian life because of his long separation from them. He immediately began to take pictures of some very commonplace "Facts" in an attempt to retain the freshness of the sensation of visiting a foreign country that was his own. The barbershop series has been selected from hundreds of negatives that have been made since that time.

These photographs may be seen in several ways. On one level they prove that raw "Facts," even very ordinary ones, are absorbing and sometimes breathtaking. On another level they are a faithful documentation of an aspect of our surroundings that we take for granted. Perhaps what counts most in the end is the curious pleasure, the pure visual enjoyment we experience in looking at them.

Peter Barss Untitled, 1972/73 Silver print

Peter Barss Untitled, 1972/73 Silver print

Images of Lunenburg County depicts the soul of a culture fast disappearing in Nova Scotia. The story of a fisherman's hard and isolated life is portrayed by Peter Barss through 60 black and white photographs and 22 text panels. Happy times, months of uncertainty, a life style depending on small farms and exploitation of the sea are captured by memories retold by old sailors and their wives and children left behind. The stories tell of young boys leaving for the first time on great schooners, of ships never returning. The character imbedded in these faces comes from the kindness, mutual respect and willingness to share necessary for survival and an intrinsic part of their lives. Nowadays the young look to the city for their livelihood as mechanization destroys a way of life connected to the sea.

The text was recorded and edited by Peter Barss. Forty posters and forty catalogues accompany the exhibition.

Michael Mitchell Untitled, 1977 Silver print (colour) 48 x 48 in.; 121.9 x 121.9 cm

This exhibition of large-scale colour photography is an exploration into images of nighttime, its perceptions and limitations. The subject of the twenty-four serial images is a personal, yet accessible definition of night-specific emotions. At the same time, the photographs are an approach to the commonplace of life: the familiar objects that surround us, the people and landscape, all those things that are perceptually invisible in the ambience of light.

In this series of images the subject is revealed through a combination of long exposures and high intensity strobe and quartz lighting with varying numbers of exposures per image, mounting to as many as twenty-five. In effect the image is being painted with each exposure.

The photographs are housed in their own frame and lighting system.

Twenty-five posters and catalogues are included in the exhibition fee. The exhibition will be delivered by truck and installed with the assistance of Art Gallery of Ontario staff.

Organized and circulated by the Art Gallery of Ontario Extension Services.

Space: 25 colour photographs 4' x 4', 1 title panel, 1 framed poster; preferably to be exhibited in a single gallery space; 1700-2000 sq ft. (158-186 sq. m)

Since November 1974, twenty-two grade six students from Enniskillen Public School (ten miles north of Bowmanville, Ontario) have been working on a special photographic subject.

Using simple Instamatic cameras and colour slide film, these students went about recording daily events in their lives and studying their environment—Christmas festivities, the local service station, the slaughter house, the farm community in which they live.

Five hundred colour images were created from which a selection of fifty were chosen to be printed. In addition, one hundred and sixty slides have been put together as an audio-visual presentation produced by the students as part of the exhibition.

Fifty colour posters are included in the exhibition fee. Lent by The Photography Gallery, Bowmanville, Ontario.

Sanctuary presents a portfolio of forty-four black and white photographs made over a period of three and a half years in a park.

The photographs are individually studied moments possessing great emotional intensity and energy, but no physical activity. Collectively they present the soul of the park reflected through its visitors. The images evoke moments of introspection and contemplation as a quiet communication pervades the work through hands, shadows and figures in repose.

Elsie Ross, Toronto, c. 1898 Silver print 14 x 11 in.; 35.5 x 27.9 cm

Adelaide Ross, Aunt Violet, George Gooderham, in Egypt, c. 1903 Silver print 11 x 14 in.; 27.9 x 35.5 cm

Six Generations of Women documents the Gooderham family in photographs which date back to the 1850s, taken by and of the six generations, reprinted from the original negatives by Susan Trow, photographer and youngest descendant.

In 1832 William and Harriet Gooderham settled in Little York. Shortly after, William Gooderham and his brother-in-law, James Worts, founded the Gooderham & Worts Distillery. Dr. James Ross, later to become a prominent Toronto surgeon, married a granddaughter of William Gooderham, Adelaide, by whom a major part of this photographic collection has been bequeathed.

The historical references as well as the quality of the old photographs create an interesting pictorial document. The faces and lives of six generations of women illustrate how middle and upperclass Victorian women, delicate creatures whose place was in the home, were symbols of stability in a rapidly changing industrial society. Gradually woman's image, as recorded here, changed. Yet the family, the fabric of society, has changed very little.

This collection of photographs reads as a journal with portraits, trips abroad and moments of family life from about 1850 to 1977. As each generation stood in front of or behind the camera, they recorded moments in the family history, and made a statement about family ties through time. The collection also provides insight into the development of photography from the formal studio portrait to the instamatic moment.

Twenty-five illustrated catalogues and posters are included in the exhibition fee.

Robert van der Hilst Untitled, 1974 Cibachrome print 11 x 14 in.; 27.9 x 35.5 cm

This colour photographic exhibition represents Robert van der Hilst's personal portrait of man and the landscape of Mesoamerica.

Illustrated are festivals, celebrations, activities of daily living and in-depth studies of individuals who represent beliefs and a way of life of long ago and today. Accompanying the images will be selected quotations of poetry and prose from the ancient mythology of the Nahua and Maya peoples. The message of these ancient words is visually expressed in the photographs of the exhibition.

Fifty posters are included in the exhibition fee.*

William Hogarth (1697-1764) was one of the first important native-born English artists. He established a reputation in the 1730s with a new kind of picture which he described as “modern moral subjects...similar to representations on the stage.”

Hogarth took his subject matter from the London society of his day. His engravings include portraits of renowned contemporaries as well as scenes from both high life and low, depicting the follies of a frivolous and self-indulgent aristocracy and the often wretched social conditions of the lower classes.

Several of his engravings were executed in sets linked together by a unifying theme and underlined by a social message. The present exhibition consists of approximately 45 engravings selected from the collection of the McMaster University Art Gallery in Hamilton.

Forming the core of this witty exhibition are Hogarth's most important series of engravings, "A Harlot's Progress," "A Rake's Progress," "Marriage à la Mode" and "Four Prints of An Election."

 Albertina State Collection of Graphic Art, Vienna, Austria

Friedensreich Hundertwasser is outstanding among the postwar generation of Austrian artists. He broke from his earlier painterly tradition of landscapes, flowers and nature in general and set out to work for society as a whole, as opposed to the elite, by taking up printmaking. His subject matters are laced in lyrical rhythmic colour explosions, organic architectural structures: nature as a building, landscape as a building, the mountain as a building, the tree as a building. His forms are rooted in the fullness of exuberant Baroque and derive from the ornamental richness of the Jugendstil, an art always related to living forms.

There are 68 graphic works in wood frames designed by the artist, framed posters and a title panel.

While the poster has been celebrated as an important social as well as artistic phenomenon in Europe, Japan, the Soviet Union and the United States, it has not received its due in Canada. Yet this colourful, sometimes amusing, sometimes dramatically forceful mode of communication has flourished here for decades. The examples chosen extend from the late 19th century to the present, and include a wide variety of applications of the basic form, from theatrical, operatic, and dance performance, musical concert, and movie, to farm auction and agricultural fair, from art exhibition to election campaign. The exhibition also takes in such categories as the travel poster, the political broadside, the war recruitment and bond-drive poster, advertisements for goods and services, and newsagents' showcards. In short, whatever use to which this amazingly versatile yet immediately comprehensible and direct minor art form could be put will be explored.

The exhibition will be complemented by a poster and written information.

Richard Sturm Home, 1975 Lithograph 13 x 17 in.; 33 x 43.1 cm

See All the People is a livre deluxe comprised of an unbound suite of ten colour lithographs and two embossings illustrating twelve poems, the result of a long and close collaboration between poet Daniel Zimmerman and artist Richard Sturm. This book began in 1970 and was completed and printed in a limited edition of thirty at Scarborough College and Open Studio under the lithographer Donald Holman, Toronto.

The specificity of the relationship of word and image, the diversity of their pairing in double frames, and their constellation as a book affords a landscape mappable by means of itself as legend.

"The spirit of the Gothic window pervades this collaboration as a hurricane fence, a foreground disappearing to allow the viewer access to the Story"—Richard Sturm.

"The poems here disclose a journey back from Canterbury to the Tabard. It leads to the discovery of who is speaking and to whom the reader, attentive to the pattern of the work, may be returned."—Daniel Zimmerman.

Included in the exhibition are four single frames, title panel, colophon, index, introduction and twelve double frames, each with one poem and one image. The prints are 13 x 17 inches (33 x 43 cm) and pulled on Rives BFK.

The Riha Paten Constantinople, 565-578 Silver, with gilding and niello Diameter: 35 cm Collection: Dumbarton Oaks, Washington, D.C.

St. Sophia, Constantinople, 6th Century Overall view from the south-west

The accession of Justinian I heralded the first age of purely Byzantine art. Constantinople was undoubtedly the most important centre of art production and, under Justinian (527-565), the capital of a vast empire which stretched from Spain to Syria.

This exhibition is composed of photographic reproductions, giving the viewer at least a look at the diversity and splendour of works undertaken during Justinian's reign: the Cathedral of St. Sophia, perhaps the most striking example of Byzantine architecture; superb mosaics like those at Ravenna; exquisitely carved ivories; decorated metal work, examples of which are found as liturgical utensils; fine sculptural carvings such as the stylized capitals of Byzantine churches. All these arts flourished under Justinian's patronage. Textile art and illuminated manuscripts also prospered at this time and remain today despite their fragility.

The exhibition is presented on eleven panels with accompanying information, and places the art of Justinian's empire in an historic and geographical context.

This exhibition of colour photography documents the Rideau Canal system using aerial views, lock studies, architecture, stone structures and life along the canal.

The visual study takes us from today's Kingston to Ottawa through one hundred and twenty-three miles of what was once a devastating wilderness. Lieutenant-Colonel John By and Her Majesty's Royal Engineers started the task of building the Rideau Canal in 1827; just six months later they had achieved a smooth blending of the man-made with its natural surroundings.

These colour images capture the present day recreational activity abundant along the waterway as well as the permeation of history ever present in the locks and block-houses. Included in this exhibition are fifty framed Cibachrome prints and a title panel as well as twenty-five posters and twenty-five colour catalogues.

Two Homes is a colour photographic exhibition documenting Woodside House, Kitchener, in the 1890s, the one-time residence of William Lyon Mackenzie King, and Bellevue House, Kingston, restored in the style of 1848 when it was occupied by Sir John A. Macdonald.

These quality photographs offer a visual and educational experience through the paintings, utensils, fabric, furniture and design of the homes of two prominent 19th century politicians. The two residences have been restored by Parks Canada and exist in the manner in which they were originally intended. This documentary allows us a glimpse into the differing styles of living practised by these gentlemen of renown.

There are twenty-five full-colour images representing each home, and a title panel. The "Homes" can be hung individually or together, depending on the needs and design of the centre.

Twenty-five posters and twenty-five colour catalogues are included in the exhibition fee.
